FATHER

Used to wonder just why father
Never had much time for play,
Used to wonder why he'd rather
Work each minute of the day.
Used to wonder why he never
Loafed along the road an' shirked;
Can't recall a time whenever Father played while others worked.

Father didn't dress in fashion,
Sort of hated clothing new;
Style with him was not a passion;
He had other things in view.
Boys are blind to much that's going
On about 'em day by day.
And I had no way of knowing
What became of father's pay.

All I know was when I needed
Shoes I got 'em on the spot;
Everything for which I pleaded,
Somehow, father always got.
Wondered, season after season,
Why he never took a rest,
And that I might be the reason
Then I never even guessed.

VOTE 44 TO 29 FORMS LOCAL MUNICIPAL WATER SECTION

Results of the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District, held this Tuesday, have been awaited with great expectation by residents and observers interested in this area.

The total vote for the entire district was 44 in favor, 29 against, and two absentee votes as yet undetermined.

The voter turn-out was excellent. Seventy-five of the total 80 registered voters went to the polls.

Alex L. Adams stated, "The election results gave a definite indication of the feelings of Alpine Heights residents—there is no doubt that residents are opposed to the formation of the large East County District."

J. L. Collins said, "This is a turning point in the water development program for the Alpine area."

Both Adams and Collins, submitted a communication clarifying many aspects of the election issue which was published in last week's Echo.

Other residents of the district indicated that they were elated about the election results.

In District 1, Neil Galloway and Floyd P. Lowe each received eight write-in votes for the position of director. The tie will probably be settled by tossing a coin. In this district there were seven "yes" votes and nine "no" votes cast regarding formation of the Alpine Heights District.

District 2 elected Frank Wilson as director with 14 votes. Robert Jenkins received one vote. Fourteen "yes" votes and eight "no" votes were cast here.

Alex A. Adams was unanimously elected director of District 3 with 10 write-in votes. There were 11 "yes" and one "no" votes cast in this district.

Fred Rohr was elected director of District 4 with 10 votes. Claude Clerk received five votes and Justin C. Gruelle one vote. There were nine "yes" votes and nine "no" votes in this section.

Clayburn LaForce was elected director of District 5. There were three "yes" votes and two "no" votes in this district. Two absentee votes remain to be counted.

Al Adams stated that the five newly-elected directors would await official notification from the Board

American magazines dominate the newsstands and American styles the youthful population, but in the night life, Paris fashions seem to top the American ones.

Of all its charms, we think Danish food is about the most unbeatable, so far. Such meat! And they know how to cook it. Cheese of every kind, and even their goat cheese is good. Their pastry, everyone knows about, but fresh from the oven with sweet butter—I don't see why Danes ever leave home!

Fancy desserts and delicate pastries and fresh-made bread with lots of fresh country butter. Editorial

The voting on the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District was, in a word, decisive. A keen interest in the issue on the part of all residents was verified by the fact that 75 of the possible 80 registered property owners voted.

This election should be exceedingly significant to all residents of Alpine. It may well be, as Mr. J. L. Collins states, "a turning point." Not because it undoubtedly will force a realignment and reconsideration of the proposed East County District, but because, as we have stated previously, it focuses attention upon the water issue as it pertains to Alpine and will allow time for a critical analysis of the problem.

There are other possible means for developing water for the Alpine area on a community basis besides the method advocated by the proposed East County District. Many have commented on this fact recently.

No one is holding up any promises but the formation of the Alpine Heights District probably is far more important to the entire community than has been realized.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

gold reserves since Jan. 1, 1958.

The United States government still holds $20,189,000,000 in gold. This is more than one-half of the world supply, and far more than is legally required to back up American currency.

The government's financial experts believe the heavy drain on gold is about over and that an expected pickup in U.S. exports will reverse the trend and, possibly, wipe out a good part of the 18-month deficit.

But they emphasized that American businessmen must undertake an intensive campaign to sell their wares overseas if the United States again is to earn more money abroad than it spends.

Countries with a "favorable" trade balance—i.e., they export more goods to this country that they themselves buy—can demand the difference in gold, in bank deposits, or in dollars.

The treasury stands ready to sell them gold for dollars at the standard price of $35.0875 an ounce.

Last year, the treasury paid out $2,300,000,000 in gold in such transactions. Another 346 million dollars worth of gold has been sold similarly since last Jan. 1.

Top officials said there is no cause for alarm; that there is reason to believe a slowdown and probable reversal of the trend is in the offing. They said no thought has been given to raising the price of gold—which would have the effect of devaluing the dollar—because the situation is nowhere near that serious.

Half of the nation's families had incomes above $5,050 in 1958—a $20 increase from 1957's median family income, the Commerce Department reported.

But the increase was more than cancelled out by rising prices in the early part of 1958 so that purchasing power of the families declined slightly.

One reason for the steady improvement was the growing proportion of wives who work.

The bulk of the income units fell in the middle categories—22 percent in the $2,000-$3,999 group, 25 percent between $4,000 and $5,999 and 17 percent earning $6,000-$7,999.

Canada Firm To Build U. S. "Flying Saucer"

Members of the House Space Committee have questioned whether security measures in Canada are good enough to keep America's first flying saucer as secret as it ought to be.

A Canadian firm, Avro Aircraft Ltd., is developing the saucer-like craft for the U. S. Army and Air Force.

U. S. military officials assured the committee in testimony released last Thursday that Canada's security control was closely interlaced with this country's. But they said it still would be hard to keep the project wholly secret.

Witnesses said initial test flights would be conducted in Canada. Other sources indicated they would take place this summer.

Brig. Gen. F. H. Britton, Army said "once these things start flying it is going to be hard" to keep them secret "because . . . if we don't say what it is, we are going to get a lot of speculation."

THIS IS NEW?

A defense expert recently announced in high elation that the Armed Forces soon will unveil a flying saucer he says will "absolutely amaze" us. He declares breathlessly that the device will skim close to the ground, dart between trees, and maneuver in a way that should confound radar.

What's with ya, dad? Doesn't your wife ever drive?

A 100-mile roadway is to be cut 28 feet deep through the Greenland ice cap to service an Army post under construction there. The two-lane highway will be covered first with metal roof forms; pulverized snow will be shoveled over the forms and the forms removed when the snow hardens. Sunlight filtering through the snow roof will not only provide adequate lighting but tint the area blue and purple, according to Robert R. Phillippe, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers research and development division.

And the cheeses! They bring it around at the dinner's end on a huge tray in such a variety it's difficult to choose. With breakfast in Holland we were always served cheese. They put big slices of it on thickly buttered bread—and who could resist! Not I! Hollanders offered cheeses for the other meals as well.

Wine for noon and evening is standard. They never put water on the table the length and breadth of this old country. We get awfully thirsty for a good drink of scarce Alpine water. In Germany one time, I asked for water and they brought me a finger bowl.

We were advised before leaving home that we'd find the coffee horrible but except for that one instance, it hasn't been bad at all. It's black and a little bitter, different from ours, but quite palatable. We've had very few salads anywhere and those were molded gelatine with fruits.

Last night we had our first meal in Paris—octopus! Our host took us to his favorite restaurant and proudly ordered this dish—their specialty—and it was delicious! And here we had a divine sherbet served in the orange from which the juice and pulp had been removed for making the sherbet. When I exclaimed over it, the waiter told me how it was made. I can't wait to try it.

Linda Caldwell To Be Married Saturday

The College Park Presbyterian Church in San Diego will be the setting Saturday, June 20, at 8 p.m. for the wedding of Miss Linda Caldwell, daughter of Mrs. Frances Caldwell of Alpine, and Gordon Dee Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Moore of La Mesa.

The bride's empire-fashioned gown of white peau de soie features an imported lace bodice and long sleeves with a veil of illusion net. Her attendants will be gowned in yellow boucle taffeta.

Miss Ann Caldwell, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, with Mrs. Paul Anthony Guiles (the former Sue Jeffers) and Mrs. Margaret Woolman as bridesmaids. Mr. Richard Boyle will act as best man, and Eric Smith, Larry Bahms, William Greenlee and Edward Wolfensberger will be ushers. Dr. William MacInnes will officiate at the ceremony. The bride's cousin, Miss Martha Caldwell of Los Angeles, will be in charge of the guest book. The bride will be escorted by her uncle, Mr. Bernard R. Caldwell of Sacramento.

A reception at the Town & Country Club will be held immediately after the ceremony.

Following a honeymoon in San Francisco, the couple will reside in Los Angeles where the groom is in the insurance business. The new Mrs. Moore will attend U.C.L.A.

The Christ Ambassadors Teenage group of the Assembly of God will enjoy a banquet Friday evening, June 19th. Special guests will be the eighth grade graduates. The affair will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Warriner of Imperial Beach. After the banquet the teen-agers will enjoy some games and film strips. Master of ceremonies will be James Cope-land.

The Rev. M. J. Sampson, of Oklahoma City, will visit his mother, Mrs. Fred Heinz, of Winter Garden in the latter part of June. The reverend is missionary to the deaf in Southern District, including Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Tulsa and various stations in between.

He will preach at Alpine Lutheran Church June 20th and 27th. At the last service he would like to have any deaf living in the area attend, at which service he will also sign the service for them. If you know any interested deaf persons, please call HI 3-2498 or tell them about this service. Transportation arranged if wished. All are cordially invited to attend the Lutheran Church. SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions & Answers

QUESTION:
How does social security arrive at the amount of disability benefits?

ANSWER:
This depends on the average monthly earnings of the disabled worker. It is figured in the same way as the amount of the old age benefit which is paid at age 65.

QUESTION:
My husband is disabled and has been receiving benefits. My 16 year old daughter and I have applied for wives and child's benefits under the new law. If either my daughter or I work, will these benefits stop?

ANSWER:
If either you or your daughter work and each earn more than $1200.00 in a year after you start receiving payments, benefits for some months are not payable. If you both expect to earn less than $1200.00 each, all month's benefits are payable. This is the same work deduction provision for these re-

Randazzo-Bratton To Recite Vows Saturday

Miss Jean Ann Bratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bratton, of El Cajon, will become the bride of Robert A. Randazzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Randazzo of Alpine, at the First Baptist Church in Lakeside Saturday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m.

The bride will wear a princess-styled gown with a nylon tulle overskirt trimmed in nylon lace with a sheer nylon net fingertip veil. Her bouquet will consist of Stephanandra, white carnations and a white orchid.

The maid-of-honor will be Miss Kathy Lorentz with Miss Diane Burnham and Miss Marie Bratton as bridesmaids. Each girl will be dressed in a pastel gown of a different color.

Best man will be David Lorentz, and Danny Bonnerson and Chuck Betts will serve as ushers.

The mother of the bride will wear a champagne-colored dress trimmed with pearls, and Mrs. Randazzo will wear a dusty rose chantilly lace dress.

The reception is immediately following the ceremony at the church.

After a week's honeymoon in the north, the couple will reside in El Cajon.

Ramblers Plan Party

A party at Shadyrock is planned for Saturday night, 5 p.m. until 10 p.m., for the Alpine Ramblers. Each teenager is requested to bring 50c for the use of the pool, 50c membership dues for the coming three months, and a sack lunch for after swimming. All girls must bring bathing caps. Boys and girls 13 years through high school are invited to attend. Parents are urged to see that their children have transportation home at 10 p.m. sharp.

Land Values on Upswing, Says Expert

SAN FRANCISCO—This will be a good year for selling your farm, ranch or country home, according to the head of one of the nation's largest rural real estate brokerage firms.

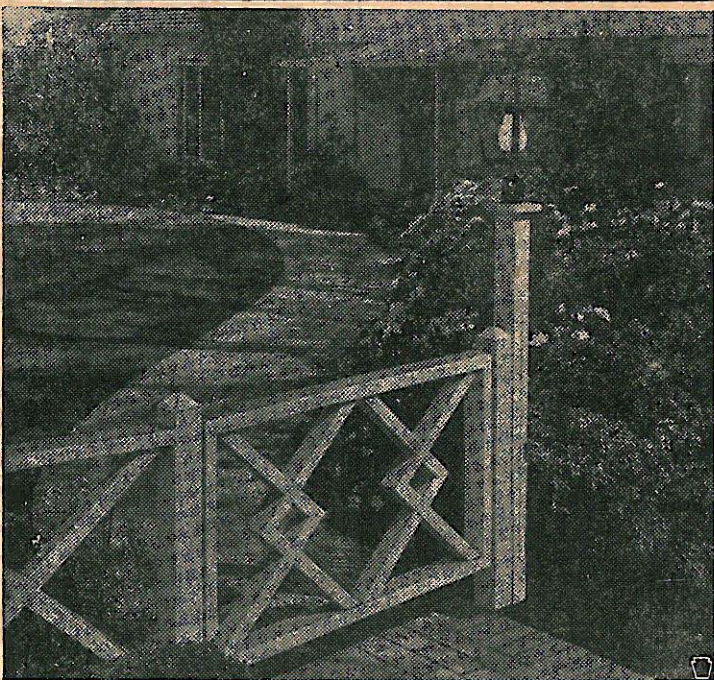

Robert M. Chamberlain, president of United Farm Agency, reports that the current year also will be as good as any "in the foreseeable future" for buying country property. Rural real estate values, which hit record highs in 1958 will advance still further this year, Chamberlain predicts.

Prices are being pushed up by two main factors: 1- a dwindling supply of rural property available; and 2- a mounting demand for country property from "non-farmers", including business men, professional people, white-collar workers and wage-earners, he said.

"These people buy for a variety of reasons," Chamberlain said, "but about 75 per cent of United's sales are made for retirement, recreation or investment purposes."

The agency, which operates in 17 states across the nation through some 250 local representatives, is known to thousands of families for the free catalog of farm and ranch listings that it publishes. Chamberlain makes his headquarters with the Western Division office, 681 Market Street, San Francisco.

Today's Fences "Go Fancy"

People no longer cry "don't fence me in." At least it's an out-of-date attitude with home-owners who have an eye for style, because today's fences are more interesting, varied, and beautiful than ever.

The secret is the fine preservatives any home-owner can easily apply that make the use of ordinary lumber for fences more practical than in by-gone years. The Western Pine Association reports, for example, that paneling lumber is becoming increasingly popular because of the pentachlorophenol preservatives that will protect a fence for generations. Thus the old plain fence has been "fancied up" with many new shapes that are painted, stained, or left natural.

Quite apart from this, however, do-it-yourself artists are making many more types of fence out of other regular lumber. The humble two-by-four can form an attractive geometric pattern in a fence and gate as in the illustration, and it will stand up to the elements with the proper preservative treatment.

Some of the best and most available woods for fencing come from the western pine region. There are ten species to choose from: Idaho white pine, ponderosa pine, sugar pine, Engelmann spruce, lodgepole pine, white fir, Douglas fir, larch, incense cedar, and inland red cedar.

Tips On Vacation Tipping: Let Your Wife Do It

One way to beat the high cost of travel this summer is let your wife handle the tipping. Another is to stay home.

A new book on the subject, written by a fellow who ought to know, recommends for and against these solutions, respectively.

The author is Michael Frome, for many years travel editor of the American Automobile Assn. Frome says if you're smart you still can get out on the road, have fun, and come home with all your gold fillings.

His books is called "Better Vacations For Your Money." Frome says if all you have in mind is saving your dough, you better forget the whole thing. He does have lots of ideas though for easing the pain.

"You don't have to tip anybody, anywhere, anything," counsels traveled Frome. "You do so only because you want to, in appreciation for service well rendered."

He must have known you won't believe this. That's why he says let your wife do it.

"Women are especially sensible in matters relating to tipping, fair but not foolish," he says. It must be true, too, because I've heard many a cab driver say the same thing, sort of.

Frome, being an old man, naturally starts out with the presumption you will be going by car. He says it will help to get it fixed first, because the local mechanics are cheap compared with those you will find in somebody else's home town.

Once under way, figure $30 per thousand miles for the gas and oil. From there on, you can write your own budget. It appears there are three courses to follow, ranging from expensive to uncomfortable.

Taking them in reverse order, there is camping. Frome says 22 million people did it last year. Camping he says, is not what it was in the good old days, and thank goodness for that anyway.

The difference is in the fine new camp sites, with conveniences like showers, sometimes with hot water, going up in state and national parks all over the country; also in the $150 to $500 worth of fancy camping gear he says you will want.

After recovering from this initial investment four campers can hope to get by on $100 a week. But don't try it just to save money. If you like to rough it on a foam rubber bed, Frome says maybe the motel route is for you.

If so, figure $10 to $12 a night for the room; at least $5 daily per person for food.

For a week in a cottage somewhere at the beach or the mountains, $90 is average rent.

For those who just want to sit down, Frome has a kind word for the resort hotel, from which he says all the guests come away feeling like millionaires. This is probably because they are millionaires. Anyway, he suggests $325 per week "and up" as a likely price for a family of four.

Credit cards help. Take all you've got. But ready cash hasn't gone out of style. Figure a budget long before leaving, Frome advises, then add 10 to 15 percent.

Jobholders Increase

Unemployment fell by about 250,000 and the number of jobholders climbed by nearly one million in May, informed sources said.

The Labor Department was expected to announce these figures in a report hailed in advance by Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell as "extraordinarily good."

As a result of last month's changes, unemployment fell to its lowest level in 18 months and total employment rose to pre-recession levels.

A greater increase in employment than the decline in unemployment is possible because many jobs are filled by newcomers to the labor force or persons who did not seek work last month and were not listed unemployed.

Magazine Sees End To Poverty in U.S.

In 10 years real poverty will disappear from the United States and the image of work as something manual and tedious will be fading rapidly, Fortune magazine said.

The magazine said that in 10 years millions of Americans will be "making a living" without actually working and nearly half the families will be in the upper income brackets.

The article, by Sanford S. Parker and Lawrence A. Mayer in the June issue, said the nation is "now entering an astonishing new phase of the great income revolution that has transformed U. S. society—and the U. S. market—in the last few decades."

Perhaps 25 million adult Americans will be living without working due to retirement incomes "substantial enough so that Americans will be largely free of the old fear of destitution in their late years."

Families now in the lower income brackets will be moving up the economic ladder in such fashion that the upper income brackets will embrace nearly half of the people in the United States.

The authors warned, however, that such a boom might result in "a kind of moral flabbiness over the years . . ."

A special Fathers' Day service will be conducted at the Assembly of God, one-half block east of the corner of Tavern Road and Arnold Way, next Sunday morning.

The role of Fatherhood will be honored in special music and the sermon of the morning. Each father present will be presented with a boutonniere, and a suitable gift will be given to the oldest father, the youngest father and the father who brings the most direct descendants with him to the Sunday School.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Ryan Firebees For World Weapons Meet

Firebee jet targets, produced by the Ryan Aeronautical Company, have been selected for the second consecutive year as the exclusive targets for the 7th World-Wide Weapons Meet of the Air Defense Command, it has been announced, with award of Air Force contracts exceeding $3.9 million.

Designated Project "William Tell II", the 10-day event will bring to Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida, October 14-23, the top interceptor teams from Air Force bases throughout the world, and will pit the fastest operational fighter planes, utilizing air-to-air missiles and rockets, against Ryan jet targets.

Use of Firebees will provide an opportunity for realistic testing of the Air Defense Command's ability to stop a surprise aircraft attack on this country.

Ryan's Torrance, Calif., plant has already started the job of rehabilitating Firebee "survivors" from last year's meet. Meanwhile, new Firebees from Torrance production lines are being readied for installation of special augmentation and scoring equipment.

John Gilroy and James Copeland represented the Alpine Christ Ambassadors at the Gala-Rama at the El Cortez Hotel last Friday night in San Diego.

Alpine School To Establish Special Training Class

The Governing Board of the Alpine Union School District has taken an important step in making adequate provision for special training class students by adopting a resolution to make available to the San Diego County Department of Education the small room at the junior high school, now being used as a storeroom.

The county will operate the program, providing a specially trained teacher, classroom furnishings, and instructional materials. The Alpine School District will receive an $800 annual rental for providing the utilities and custodial services.

This year approximately six Alpine children requiring special training instruction have been attending the special training class operated by the San Diego County Department of Education in the Santee School District. The Santee District has grown to over 900 A.D.A. (Average Daily Attendance) and will take over its own program of special training and, consequently, can no longer accommodate the children from Alpine.

This year several children requiring this type of training were unable to attend the class in Santee because of lack of space.

The use of the small classroom is a temporary measure since the new Harbison Canyon School building will have a special training classroom allocated by the State Department of Education for this program.

Mr. Fred Bode, Coordinator, Special Training Classes, and Dr. Werner C. Dieckmann, Assistant Superintendent, Special Services, Department of Education, San Diego County, have worked closely with the school officials in making provision for this special training class.

New Surveying Technique For U.S. Highway 80

A major portion of the surveying on U. S. 80, a major link in the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, between the city of El Cajon and the Arizona state line, will be done by aerial photography, stated Jacob Dekema, district engineer for the State Division of Highways. Dekema said that recent refinement of aerial survey techniques enables the Division to gather the necessary engineering information, not only more accurately, but at less than the former ground survey cost.

This new technique, referred to as photogrammetry, necessitates the placing of check, or control, points in the field by survey parties, prior to the actual aerial photography. These control points do not necessarily indicate the center line of the proposed improvement but rather points of known location and elevation. Even though this is somewhat time-consuming in the first stages, the ultimate highway development will reflect a saving of time and money when this system is utilized, Dekema indicated.

With the exception of property line surveying on the ground, it is anticipated that photogrammetry will be used exclusively for the design engineering of the proposed U. S. 80 Freeway, Dekema concluded.

Gelatine Salads Ring A Reception

The double-ring marriage ceremony suggests the decor of the wedding reception table. Here, the ring artistry is achieved by using unflavored gelatine to mold two kinds of chicken salad.

One ring combines diced cooked chicken with pineapple and celery in a consomme base. The second one has chicken, green pepper and celery in a creamy base. The chicken and other ingredients are fully savored because unflavored gelatine offers no competing taste.

Chicken and Pineapple Ring

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine ¼ cup lemon juice
2½ cups cold chicken stock, divided 1 can (14 ounces) crushed pineapple
¼ teaspoon salt 3 cups diced cooked chicken
½ cup diced celery

Sprinkle gelatine on 1 cup of the cold chicken stock in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in remaining 1½ cups stock, salt, lemon juice and pineapple. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Stir in chicken and celery. Turn into a 5-cup ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold; fill center with salad greens. Yield: 12 servings.

Chicken and Vegetable Ring

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine 1½ cups mayonnaise or salad dressing
1¾ cups cold chicken stock 3 cups diced cooked chicken
¼ teaspoon salt ½ cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons lemon juice 1 cup diced celery

Sprinkle gelatine on 1 cup of the chicken stock in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat; stir until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining ¾ cup chicken stock, salt and lemon juice. Cool; gradually stir into mayonnaise. Stir in chicken, green pepper and celery. Turn into a 5-cup ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold, fill center with salad greens. Yield: 12 servings.

Girl Scout Camp To Open June 29

June will be "busting out all over" with Girl Scout camps in San Diego county.

Mrs. Leshar, of La Mesa, camping committee chairman, yesterday announced that 46 day camps and four established troop camps will open June 29.

She said this is a part of the year-round program of the Girl Scout Council of San Diego County, which is supported through the United Fund.

More than 5,000 girls are expected to take part in the camping program. They include the three groups of Girl Scouts—Brownies of 7-9 years old, Intermediates of elementary school grades 5-8, and Seniors of high school age.

Mrs. Nash said that other girls who are not in Scouting may enroll by calling Girl Scout headquarters, if the sessions are not filled by Girl Scouts.

Camp Davidson, formerly operated by the Armed Services YMCA near Julian, will be opened as a Girl Scout camp for the first time this year. Accommodations include cabins, dormitories and tents. The camp has a swimming pool where the waterfront staff will give class instruction.

Mrs. Nash said the public is invited to attend open house at the Girl Scouts' Cuyamaca Camp from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, June 28. Model camps will be shown in operation.

TEEN TALK

By JANIE

The big election is over! The results are as follows: Janie Woodall, president of the Alpine Junior High Student Council; Dale Smith, vice-president, and Linda Wilson secretary - treasurer. The voting took place last Friday, and the outcome was known by that afternoon.

Last Friday the eighth grades enjoyed their traditional "Ditch Day" at La Mesa Municipal Pool. The future freshmen left at about 9 a.m. and returned at 2:30 p.m. a very sunburned and waterlogged bunch of swimmers.

Since the seventh graders had Junior High to themselves Friday, a baseball game was organized in the afternoon. Mrs. Frenzel's room came out the losers, with Mr. Schaeffer's room the victors. Score 28-9!

All of you kids from 8 to 15 years of age who can, or would like to learn to square dance, be at the Youth Center at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 24. Jack and June Smith are starting their class again. Besides square dancing, you learn round dancing, and some ballroom dancing. The time is from 8 to 10 p.m., and the cost is 25c per person. The class is open to everyone for three weeks, and after that no one else will be accepted, so be sure and come during those first three weeks.

Tuesday, June 16, an assembly was called for the students at Junior High. During this assembly Mr. Julian Miller led the group in some singing. Gifts were awarded to Dale Bratlund and Roberta Welty for the most sales in the card and novelty contest. Dale and Roberta sold the most of any student in the school. They received beach towels. Mr. and Mrs. Grisom, the school's art instructors, were presented with an electric blanket for their work in the art department. Also Mrs. Anita Wright was given a punch bowl in appreciation for her help as principal and teacher of the school. The gifts were presented by the Student Council president.

Thursday the seventh graders had a hilarious good time on their "Ditch Day" at Holiday Ranch. Besides swimming they enjoyed games, dancing and food.
