ALPINE DISTRICT PRESENTED WITH RESTRAINING COURT ORDER

The regular meeting of the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District on Wednesday evening was abruptly interrupted immediately after the roll call when Mrs. Edith Bishop of Harbison Canyon addressed the Board of Directors saying, "I have another present for you boys." Mrs. Bishop promptly presented each of the directors with a temporary restraining court order which had been filed by George Butcher and Raymond W. Scruggs. Butcher and Scruggs are committeemen representing the proposed East County District.

The action came as a complete surprise to the Alpine district Board of Directors and Alpine residents who had gathered for the routine meeting. The agenda was to include a report from Mr. Eugene Freeland, manager of the Alpine district, giving the results of a survey on the prospects of obtaining water and a hearing on the annexation of 15 parcels of land to the Alpine district.

John Gregory, attorney for the Alpine water district, stated that he had no prior knowledge of the existence of the restraining order and indicated that the procedure was quite irregular.

Eleven persons wishing to annex to the Alpine Heights District were present at the meeting. Practically all expressed extreme indignation regarding the action of the East County proponents in disrupting the immediate business and regular procedure of the Alpine district. The meeting was temporarily adjourned while an informal conference was held to

The temperamental night-blooming Cerus seldom displays more than one flower at a time in its first year of blooming, but one raised in Alpine, burst forth the other night with three gorgeous blooms at once, scenting the moonlight of the La Force patio. The flowers were waxy white and seemed to glow in the night.

She lives near the back door of Stonecrest, the Hohanshelt's attractive home on South Grade road, and when Forest calls her, she comes out of her resting place beneath a cool green leaf and eats a dead fly or moth from his hand. She then travels up his wrist and nibbles at his wrist watch as if trying each time to see if it is finally ready to eat. Much of the time she suns herself on the stump in the patio, doing occasional push-ups just to keep her figure. Her name is Tinker.

Brush Fire Burns 12 Acres In Canyon

A fire broke out last Sunday at about 5:30 p.m. in the Harbison Canyon area south of Chocolate Drop Mountain burning off approximately 12 acres of brush land. No residential damage was suffered.

The Harbison Canyon Volunteer Fire Department was first on the scene and stood by to protect residences from any possible fire damage.

Fifteen trucks from the State Division of Forestry had been employed in the fight before the fire was brought under control two hours later. The steepness of the terrain made it impossible for the trucks to gain access to the fire and under the supervision of the State Division of Forestry, it was necessary to use bulldozers and hand crews armed with shovels in the fight. Besides the local residents, these crews included fighters from Alpine, Suncrest, Minniwawa and Veijas Honor Camp. Especially to be commended are the two crews of local teenagers who made the initial attack on the fire from both sides.

The cause of the fire was not definitely established, but it was thought possibly to have been started by children playing with matches. Once again the responsibility is brought home to each and everyone of us to PREVENT FOREST FIRES.

East County Must Form District Before Asking Annexations

The Water Problems Committee of the San Diego County Water Authority gave considerable time to the proposed East County Water District at a meeting in San Diego on September 10.

A large map, displayed at the front of the room, was represented as the East county area. Most of the map was colored bright green, this color designating the East County section, with very much smaller squares inked in red said to represent the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District and those wishing annexation to the latter.

A spokesman from Dehesa, Mr. Loren Howard, rose and stated calmly that he and others in his area, wished exclusion from East County plans, not wishing to be (quote) "swallowed up by a monster." Mr. Bawer of Lawson Valley, rose and stated that the map was not correct since he and his neighbors were marked in it and did not wish to be included in the proposed boundaries of the proposed East County district, and had not been informed or consulted about it in any way.

Another group requested by petition, to be annexed to the East County plan. But in discussing the issue, Mr. William Jennings, attorney for the Water Authority, stated, "There is no point in debating the pros and cons of a proposed annexation to a proposed district." He said the first thing that must be done was for the district to be formed. "We are wasting our time and beating our gums," he said, "considering

Actions Taken By Alpine School Board

At the regular monthly meeting Monday night the Governing Board of Alpine Union School District authorized the employment of Forrest Hohanshelt, local retired contractor, as inspector for the construction of the new Harbison Canyon School. Mr. Hohanshelt has served the district in this capacity on previous occasions.

In other action the Board:

Accepted the request for Mildred Haskins for a leave of absence until January, 1960.

Authorized the reservation of the school auditorium for the following organizations: Alpine Junior Baseball Association, September 26. Alpine Heights Municipal Water District for a public meeting on the local water problem, September 25. Alpine Allemanders, every Thursday and Friday night up to and including November 20, except Friday night, September 25.

Authorized the bus drivers and District Superintendent to select new uniforms to be worn by the bus drivers.

Adjourned the meeting to Monday, September 21, for the purpose of opening the bids on the construction of the Harbison Canyon School and any other business that may be transacted at a regular meeting.

UNANIMOUSLY ACTS TO ACCEPT ANNEXATION OF FORMED DIST.

regarding acceptance of the Alpine Heights District into the Rio organization.

The Chairman, Mr. Charles Price, allowed a free and democratic discussion of the subject, and controlled the session admirably though tension was apparent in the audience. After observation of the map presented by Alpine Heights manager Eugene Freeland, and further discussion, it was moved by Board member Miller that "Rio will consider annexation of any formed district." Board member Rabonsky seconded the motion. Motion was discussed and passed unanimously. In the discussion on the motion, Mr. Freeland raised the question as to whether this consideration would be on the terms and conditions contained in the letter from the Rio Water Problems Committee to the Alpine Heights District

Since formation of the Alpine Heights Municipal Water District the tactics of the members of the proposed East County District appear to have been those principally of harassment. The East County group has seemingly become more interested in heckling and disrupting the orderly progress of the Alpine Heights District rather than attempting to demonstrate any additional evidence that they have a workable plan for the formation of a water district.

A recent public meeting called by the East County group revealed no significant new facts which might influence local opinion and when questions from the floor were abruptly terminated, most Alpine residents were disgruntled and remained highly skeptical of the intentions of the East County-proposal.

The attitude of the Alpine Heights District has been largely to ignore the East County activities and proceed in an orderly manner with the business and function of a water district.

One recent legal action has been dismissed. Now another suit has been strategically filed to surprise the Alpine Heights Board of Directors at a regular meeting which delays and interferes directly with the conduct of the affairs of the district.

Many "Alpiners for Alpine" are furious.

read and discuss the court order.

The complaint filed by Butcher and Scruggs alleges that Byron A. Viets and others (who are not named) are residents of an area which also includes the proposed East County District and, unless restrained, the Alpine Heights District will pass an ordinance to annex Viets and others. The complaint further alleges that if Viets and others are not restrained from annexing to the Alpine Heights District Butcher and Scruggs will suffer irrevocable damage.

After a brief explanation of the complaint, Attorney Gregory said he would appear before Judge Bonsall Noon, who issued the order, on either Thursday or Friday and ask that the action be dismissed.

Al Adams, chairman of the Alpine Board, stated that as the action was a court order it could not be ignored and the meeting would temporarily adjourn, and reconvene to complete the business agenda on Friday evening at 8 p.m.

El Capitan P.T.A. To Sponsor Booth At Lakeside '49 Fair

El Capitan High School PTA will feature a Country Store Booth during the Lakeside Days of '49 Fair September 18, 19 and 20, with proceeds going to the El Captus funds, according to Mrs. Ted Sherman, Ways and Means chairman. Band uniforms have been ordered and will make their first appearance in September, she said. However, there is a balance of $4500 due on them, and support of the community is needed to meet this sum.

In order to maintain the booth for three days, the following donations are needed in quantity, white elephants of any type, fresh produce, jellies and preserves, plants, bulbs, homemade cakes, cookies and breads, magazines, books and pocket books, old dress patterns, vases, dishes and records, and fancy work of all kinds.

Anyone who wishes to donate, or to buy pre-fair tickets for the carnival, five rides for the price of four, contact Mrs. Cletus Kramer, HI 5-2003, or Mrs. Charles Bradley, HI 5-2304. An apron making bee will be held at the home of Mrs. Leo Ness, 560 Pepper Drive, El Cajon at 9 a.m. September 11. Materials donations are needed, and seamstresses are invited to help. Aprons will be sold in the Country Store.

Days of '49 is an annual Lakeside Carnival, general funds for the Veteran's Memorial Building. Several organizations are donating their booth's proceeds for the El Captus fund. The celebration includes crowning of Queen followed by an evening of Square Dancing on the 18th; a barbecue and dancing on the 19th and an auction on the 20th. Every day will feature lots of food and game booths and carnival rides for all kids.

"Alpine Day," or at least that day when Alpine parents will man the Country Store and the popcorn booth, will be Friday, September 18, with Mrs. Kramer and Mrs. Bradley as chairmen.

dated September 2, 1959. Mr. Price made the statement during the discussion that any annexation would be on terms and conditions not more favorable than those given to the Flynn Springs-Blossom Valley annexation.

In winding up, the meeting Mr. Price said "Rio's idea is today as it has always been that we have an obligation to get water to the people in the most inexpensive way possible to achieve good results." He stated that "they are interested in helping the real residents and home owners of a district instead of promoters, and that only those with a formed legal district have any chance at active consideration."

Alpine Heights Municipal Water District have been invited to explain to the property owners and to the community at large in the Alpine area, the policies and plans of the water district for the development of a water supply for the Alpine area. This water district has been legally chartered to operate under the state laws of California.

Interest in the subject has, in recent weeks, expanded to that of community-wide status, and it would now be in line with public interest to present to the community an authorized and legal explanation of all the factors involved in the procurement of water for this general area.

The meeting will have speakers who are fully qualified and authorized personnel on the subject and all questions on the part of the public will be gladly discussed and fully answered in order that the people may obtain a proper and complete understanding of the subject and all that is involved therein.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

A LETTER FROM ABROAD

From Mrs. J. L. Isaacs (Betty Moore, Daughter of the Roger Moores of Alpine) Wiesbaden, Germany August, 1959

A few weeks ago I started a short piece for the "Echo" on my attempts at preparing sauerbraten the German method. I had the recipe and everything to send along, but now I wouldn't dare! I kept the meat in a covered dish (as the directions said) turning it religiously every day and I must have put in too much or too many spices for around the fourth day it began to have a most suspicious odor. I thought nothing of it, not knowing much about sauerbraten, and, in my excitement over creating such a "dish," I invited friends in to share it with us. To make a most embarrassing story short, at the end of the meal there was much sauerbraten untouched and no remains of the apple pie, cheeses and wine. I really think maybe seven days is too long.

Our son Michael Jon had his first birthday last Friday and has been walking now for two weeks. With him into everything and anything, my days are busier than ever before. I do have three piano students each week and that is about the extent of my music these days. While in France, I had the finest piano teacher I think there is. She herself was a pupil of the famous Phillippe who in turn was a student of Chopin. She has marked my Chopin books just as he wished them played and I know I would not have received anything like that with all the teachers I could have had in the States. I did attempt to study here in Wiesbaden but the nature of the teacher was so arrogant and so in contrast with Mlle Chenaud (a maiden lady of 75) that I just could not continue with him. I think I'll always find other teachers lacking from now on because of Mlle. Chenaud.

In May, Jack and I took a boat trip up the Rhine. We left at 1:30 in the afternoon and leisurely sailed up as far as the legendary Lorelei Rock. How beautiful it was. The rock, or mountain, extends out on a very wide curve in the river surrounded by dark green mountains dotted here and there with old castles. I could almost picture the lovely Lorelei standing on top of the rock beckoning the sailors of the river. The Rhine has quite a lot of traffic, much more than any of the Seine we saw. Mostly long barges with a few sailing boats and more pleasure vessels. It is very beautiful and no wonder that all the boats are filled to capacity. The one we were on was chartered by the Masons with only around 150 whether to accept a district that is not even formed."

It was reiterated that East County proponents were helpless to do anything about accepting annexations or anything about water until they are a formed district with a legal status as such. This forming of districts, Mr. Jennings pointed out, is not within the jurisdiction of the Water Problems Committee, or Water Authority at all, but rests with the Board of Supervisors to approve the appeal to form a district after which a duly called election must be held to determine the people's will in the matter. "We cannot accept them until we know whether they will be formed or not," the attorney explained. Mr. Phelps said, when asked, that he had filed the petition with the Board of Supervisors last week on September 3.

Meanwhile, the attorney stated, any other area is free to seek annexation to any existing district. The way this is done is for the area wanting water to appeal to a formed district through its Board of Directors. Then if the existing water district accepts the new area, the water district officials, not the annexing area, appeals to the Water Authority.

persons, so it was real comfortable. All the Rhine wine you desired, and a wonderful dinner under the stars added up to an experience I'll never forget and hope to have again before we leave.

In the almost three years we have been here in Europe, the weather has never been nicer. The temperature has been in the 80's for weeks now. It's almost as nice as I recall Alpine being. And lately (it's home sickness, I'm sure), I think of home much more than I ever have before. Still, I know I will be very sad when we leave here which will be another 17 months. But despite that, I'll be very glad to see old Alpine again, and often feel I would give anything to be home right now.

Ed. Note. Betty is a very talented pianist. She was one of the youngest organists for the Alpine church and always plays when she comes home. Many Alpiners know of her talent and will be interested in her progress.

CAMPO NEWS

By Fay Farris

Now that school has started and vacation time is over, many clubs are starting their fall meetings this month, and among them is the Mountain Empire Republican Women, Inc. which met at the Hobart House in Pine Valley on September 14 for luncheon. There were about forty present and the husbands and friends of members were invited, as Co. Thomas D. Drake was the speaker and his subject "Metropolitan Government" is one that every citizen should know about.

The Mountain Empire Women's Club met on Wednesday, September 9, at the home of Ruby Clark in Descanso. This was a potluck luncheon, and every one who came had an enjoyable afternoon. There were two guests—Mrs. Loomis of Descanso and Pearl Deines of Lake Morena.

Plans were completed Friday night for the Lake Morena Woman's Club Benefit Card Party to be held on the evening of October 6 at the Stone House in Campo. The Board met at the home of Daisy McCoy of Rancho del Campo.

Jack Martin and his wife Lucille were hurt in an automobile accident a week ago. It seems their lights went out on Dead Man's curve about two miles East of Laguna Junction, and they ran into the hillside. Jack has a broken nose and is badly bruised and Lucille has a broken ankle. She was to start teaching Home Economics in one of the El Centro schools when school opened Thursday, but will have to have a substitute for a couple of months. They own the grocery store in Morena Village, and Mrs. Martin taught at the Mt. Empire High School last year.

It is reported that the Village Inn in Morena Village is going through escrow, and the new owners are planning on expanding the Inn, so they can have dancing. The former owner was Fran Moretti.

The Looney Store at Cameron's Corner is quite a gathering place especially on Saturday nights since Live Oaks Springs was closed. When it is warm, they dance outside on a cement slab, and when it is cold they push the shelves back and dance in the store.

A new Square Dance Class will start on September 23 at the Mountain Whirlers Club House in Campo, with Al Schaeffer teaching—time 8 p.m. There are quite a number of new teachers and new residents in the Campo area who might join this class, and residents of other areas are welcome. Al is a fine teacher, and Square Dancing is the best fun ever.

Mrs. Fayette Clark of "Flo-Jo" on Buckman Springs Road and Mrs. Lapham of Campo gave a handkerchief shower for Diana Harmer on Wednesday evening. There were about twenty present. Mr. Harmer is in the Border Patrol and has been transferred to Calexico.

All women in the community are invited to join as this club is for those who wish to relax for a few hours once a week. Any or all of the classes may be attended.

Another potluck was enjoyed by the members of the club after swimming yesterday.

TEEN TALK

By JANIE

The Lewiston family celebrated Pam's 17th birthday with a pizza and spaghetti dinner Tuesday night.

George Dunn is the new owner of a 1956 Chevie which he drives back and forth to El Cajon High School.

Everyone who attended Rhoda Rathborn's wiener roast at El Monte Park last Saturday thoroughly enjoyed themselves. After consuming hot dogs, marshmallows, etc. a number of unusual games and stunts were played. Those who attended were: Diane and Beverly Fleming, Ray Partridge, Jr., Norman Way, Jeremy Standen, Carol and Helen Cost, Linda Bradley, Linda Wilson, Janie Woodall, Dr. Roger Larson and Rhoda's parents.

Sunday afternoon the Senior Pilgrim Fellowship group of Alpine Community Church attended a rally and beach party at La Jolla Shores. Many of the present and incoming Seniors attended.

VINES

More and more people are using vines to enhance the structure of their homes. Years ago people used to plant vines to hide a fence, now the gardener builds a fence to display the vine. This also enhances the structure of the home.

If you plan to remodel your yard, think about using vines. Each vine is different—some vines are opaque, some are transparent. Dull leaves absorb the light, shiny leaves reflect the light. Large bold textures are good to use with bold structures, delicate textures should be used with delicate structure. The texture is often determined by leaf size. Bold textures have large leaves while delicate textures have small leaves. Some vines will take wind, others will not. Uses may also be determined by the manner in which they climb. Some vines climb by clinging, twining, scrambling or leaning.

A vine growing on a wall must have a higher heat resistance than a vine on a trellis away from the wall. The more air circulating through a vine the healthier it will be.

Some twining vines twine clockwise while other twine counterclockwise, some closely, others loosely. Small twiners should have a cord or covered-wire for support as a large post or a tree is too large. Top supports are often necessary for twiners such as: actinidia, cehebia, celastrus, morning glory, mandevilla, polygonum, solanum, thuabertia, star jasmín and wisteria.

the support. Clinging vines with hook-like tips or claws are able to hook themselves into small crevices or irregularities. Canpis and Doranthers are good examples.

Roses and jasmine are called weaving vines.

Many shrubs with vine-like habits are often sold as vines. This type is known as the scrambling or leaning group.

Adequate root space and good drainage are necessary for vines. The planting and culture are similar to that of a tree. When crowded by other shrubs, light but frequent fertilizing is necessary. You can't depend upon rain to saturate vines planted under overhangs; therefore, these vines need special watering attention.

Final Rites For Vern Chynoweth

Final rites were held last Tuesday at 1 p.m. for Vern Chynoweth at Greenwood Cemetery.

Vern's son, Bob, arrived last Friday night from Germany on a 30-day leave. His service time will be up in November.

Two brothers of Vern have also been visiting the family.

one on the place, pals around with the dog and when the dog barks the duck quacks in the same watch-dog tone, waddling out to meet callers. Mrs. Hill says if you want a pet duck, keep just one then he will let you pick him up and become very friendly. They also have one guinea fowl who strolls majestically around the yard, adding an exotic touch to the hominess of the lovely old place.
