Serving a Growing Area of Homes and Ranches

WATER IN ALPINE AVAILABLE SOON

STRIKE MAY DELAY SERVICE IN OTHER AREAS OF DISTRICT

Mr. Charles Price, General Manager of the Rio San Diego MWD, states that the reservoir on Victoria Drive that will serve the Alpine area below the 1950-foot elevation and the pumping plants and transmission lines that furnish water to this reservoir have been completed. They are now under chlorination and leakage tests. As soon as the tests prove satisfactory, water will be available to the residents of this area.

School Board To Revise Budget

The Governing Board of the Alpine Union School District spent another session Monday night in a meeting adjourned from June 11 discussing budget problems which have been a source of much concern in this school district ever since a 90-cent tax rate became a possibility.

Many hours have been devoted in regular board meetings precedent to the difficult task of adopting an annual school budget. Prior to the June 12 election the Board studied two preliminary budgets based on a $1.86 tax rate

Work on the completion of reservoirs that will serve other areas of the District, including the Blossom Valley and Ruis Canyon sections, has been suspended due to a carpenters' strike. Mr. Fred Einer Brothers, contractors for the work, says that the representative of the Carpenters' Union appeared on the work at 11 a.m. last Tuesday, and ordered all of the carpenters to cease work. Mr. Einer states that there remained only two days' more work for the carpenters to complete the reservoir and that he requested that the

ALPINE HISTORICAL SOCIETY INTEREST CONTINUES TO GROW

Alpine's history is important to a number of local and county citizens as is evidenced by the lively interest in the Alpine Historical Society organized here early in April.

The Society met last Sunday evening, June 24th at 7 p.m. at Sky Mesa Ranch with a large and enthusiastic crowd and gained eight new members. This closes the charter membership although regular memberships are still available.

Ralph Walker, president, conducted the business meeting after which he introduced the speaker, Mrs. James Reading, of San Diego who presented a very interesting talk on the historic old Whaley house of San Diego of which she is director. She told of the two-year-long struggle to restore the combination dwelling and courthouse, which was built in 1857 of hand made kiln dried bricks, the inside walls plastered with ground sea shells. The original material of the structure, which is now a civic museum, was replaced in the restoration.

Phil Hall, chairman of the Historical Research committee for the local society, reported talks with local timers in an effort to locate relics and mementoes of the past, including early site of historic importance. Anyone possessing such information would be acting in the public interest to contact Mr. Hall and pass this information on. All members of the society are working with Mr. Hall in the search for this material. It is the purpose of the group to establish landmarks and memorials wherever possible in the community. Victoria Rock, whom Mr. Walker recalls was named by his father in 1898 was discussed at some length.

Dedication Date Set

Finished at last, after a long arduous donation of labor, the patio at the Jane Dunn Hall, of the Alpine Community Church, will be dedicated formally on Sunday, July 1, at 10:30 a.m. at a ceremony between the early and regular 11 a.m. church services. Dr. Larson, who has postponed his European trip for the purpose, will officiate at the dedication.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LA FORCE

Our country's flag, the Stars and Stripes, which will fly by the millions, for the millions, on Wednesday, July 4, will bring to many minds the popular picture of Betsy Ross sewing blue stars and red stripes in a Colonial setting, thus creating our first National emblem, the Revolutionary flag, designed by her. Historians now dispute this story of the origin of our flag. The pattern of the stars and stripes rose from several origins back in the mists of antiquity.

The flags of the early Colonists were designed, not with heavenly symbols, but with the natural symbols of their struggles in a wilderness. Pine trees, rattlesnakes, beavers, anchors, and other such insignia were used freely while their mottos were "Hope," "Liberty," and "Don't Tread on me!"

Two of the most popular symbols of the Revolutionary flags were the pine tree and the rattlesnake. One writer of the time states that since the rattlesnake's eye was brighter than that of any other animal, and she had no eyelids, she was esteemed as a symbol of vigilance; that since she never began an attack, and, when once in a fight, never surrendered, she was an emblem of courage and magnanimity.

We suspect, however, it was the deadly bite of the rattler which was uppermost in the minds of the flag's designers and the warning word, "Don't Tread on Me!" a reminder of the colonist's determination to be free.

The first Stars and Stripes was established by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, and remained unchanged until 1794 with the admission of Kentucky and Vermont to Statehood, when the stars and stripes were increased to 15 each. This was our flag for nearly a quarter of a century. It was this emblem which inspired Francis Scott Key to write the "Star-Spangled Banner." Realizing that too many stripes would ruin the flag's design, Congress passed a law in 1818 returning the flag to 13 stripes and requiring a new star to be added for each new State.

It has taken 185 years and many, many battles and many, many lives to bring our new Constellation to the sum of 50. We ought to look at it long and soberly and not be ashamed of a fervent breath of

Brush Fire Put Out

Sunday afternoon, June 24, the first brush fire since the weather has turned warm, broke out at the corner of Lilac Lane and Alpine Heights Road. Alpine Fire Department responded to a call with three trucks, according to Hazen Alkire, assistant fire chief, who was in charge. When they arrived, Mr. Alkire said, Al Admas, whose ranch is near the scene of the fire, was already there and did much to get the fire under control.

JET PLANE CRASH NEAR ALPINE

It was about 3:20 or perhaps 3:25 when Neda Hill (Mrs. Tom Jr.) heard a chilling high whine in the sky above her house. She knew what it was, for a few moments before she had seen three jet planes circling rapidly overhead. Her sons, Chuck and Bruce called out and she reached the yard she saw a cloud of black smoke boiling up from behind the hill of Chocolate Summit. Then there was the wail of sirens on Highway 80.

"I knew a plane had crashed," Neda said, "and that the pilot must have been killed."

Al Adams, of Alpine Heights Road, was hoeing weeds in his yard. "There were these three jets chasing each other right above my place," Al said, "and they were flying pretty low, maneuvering around. Finally, I just stopped and watched to see what they were going to do. They shot out towards Today's Egg Farm and started to circle. The first one made it around all right; the second one couldn't make it and went into a spin, while the third plane went straight on. The second plane then apparently tried to bank and correct the spin, but failed and went down in a nose dive. He went straight down and he was going

The Relationship Of Church and State

We do not always agree with the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. We believe that every American citizen has the right to agree or disagree with each of its decisions. But that once made, their decisions must be obeyed until overruled, and that the cure for rulings that are contrary to public opinion lies in the removal from public office by Constitutional process those responsible for such decisions.

The Supreme Court has just rendered a decision which has stirred up a controversy, the very nature of which illustrates the purpose of the provision in our Constitution on which they based their decision; namely, the First Amendment to the Constitution which reads as follows:

"Amendment 1, Section 1. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

We have always been of the opinion that religion was a very personal matter that had no relationship to the functions of government. We have always believed that any person could have any religion of their choosing so long as the practice of their religion did not jeopardize the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness of others.

We agree with the Supreme Court decision regarding prayers in public schools, and we are strongly against amending the Constitution to make valid such laws. A contrary decision by the Court, or the amendment proposed, would open the door to State control of religion.

awfully fast." Al said the plane disappeared then behind the hill top and almost at once the tell-tale cloud of black smoke piled up.

Three young boys, all first year students at El Cajitan High School, witnessed the final moments of the jet jilot and were at the scene of the tragedy within half an hour. Jim Hurlbet of Alpine, and Ronald Thornbrue and Wayne McGill of Twin Oaks, were watching the planes, when suddenly, to quote one of the boys, "That jet shot down like a rocket and crashed." One boy who was working in his yard at the time said a huge ball of fire exploded with shocking force.

At the scene of the crash, just off Chocolate Summit Drive a stone's throw west from Today's Egg Farm entrance, officers of the California Highway Patrol were trying to keep the idly curious away while fire fighters fought the flames which spread rapidly from the burning plane. By 6 p.m. the flames were out, leaving only a smouldering black wreck and a few burned acres of brush among the big rocks. Fire fighters were busy with hand tools eradicating every smoldering spot.

Officers and Navy personnel at the scene did not know as much about the accident as did local observers who had seen the plane's last moments. They were silent pending investigation. A crew was trying to locate and remove the flyer's body, but as of 6:30 p.m. Wednesday had found only his helmet and a zipper thought to have been from a jacket.

The name of the victim was being withheld pending notification of next of kin. The three planes were all from the Miramar Field.

There has been much excitement at the Carpenter home in the canyon and the Crissman home in La Cresta. "Criss" is home and both families are too happy for words. Criss just sits and stares at 3-month-old daughter, Janet Lynne, in quiet disbelief that this little tiny girl is for real. Lindy and Criss will be moving to Long Beach where Criss will be stationed but probably not for two weeks or so as he is on leave until July 22nd. He completed ten weeks of schooling in Charleston, S. C., last Friday and drove straight through with practically no stops and pulled into La Cresta late Sunday night. Surprised the whole family as he wasn't expected at least until late Monday night. Welcome home, Crissy!

Don Gibson has spent the past week in San Luis Obispo with his aunt and her family. Don is on leave until July 18th so will probably be spending most of his time in the canyon visiting with friends.

Ricky and Sharon Rioux have found an apartment in El Cajon and have moved into set up house-keeping. Imagine they will find their way to the canyon fairly often though as they have many friends and Sharon's family out here to visit with.

The High School aged group of teenagers who meet at the canyon Community Church every Sunday night are going to Green Valley Falls next Sunday (July 1st) for a picnic. An invitation is extended to all in this age group to attend. They will be leaving after the Morning Worship Service. For details and information regarding what to bring, contact Pam Humphrey, HI 5-2033.

Janie McClain, former canyon resident, spent several days with Jeannie Ferguson and now Jeannie is spending several days in El Cajon with the McClain family. Aren't "vacations" fun?

Had a nice letter from John McCoy who is stationed with the Air Force at Incirlik Air Base in Adana, Turkey. We have his address if you'd like to write to him and feel sure he'd love to hear from his friends here in the canyon.

Did you know that there is a proper way to dispose of the National flag when it's worn out? It should be done with reverence. According to an approved custom, the Union is first cut from the flag, and the two pieces, which no longer form a flag, are cremated.

Mountain Barracks Meeting Postponed

The regular meeting of the World War I Mountain Barracks No. 2716, and the Mountain Auxiliary, will be held on Wednesday, July 11th at 7:00 p.m. in Fuller Hall, Alpine. Because the 4th of July holiday falls on the usual meeting night, this next meeting

Rev. C. W. Tedrahn, pastor of the Alpine Lutheran Church which he founded in 1958.

THE ALPINE LUTHERANS

On December 14, 1958, the Alpine Lutheran Church held its first service here in the auditorium of the Woman's Club on the corner of Highway 80 and Victoria Drive, with Rev. C. W. Tedrahn, its founder, in the pulpit. For some time prior to that date, local Lutherans had wanted

Two Children Lost In Alpine Fire

Two small children were burned to death yesterday morning in a fire which destroyed their home on Old Viejas Road. Sons of Mrs. R. R. (Antoinette) Phelps, the boys were Robert Russell, 8 years old and John Stevens, 11 months.

A fire, of undetermined origin, apparently started about 6 a.m. The alarm was turned in to the U. S. Forestry by Mrs. McCarthy, a neighbor who saw the smoke from her own house. She said before the fire fighters arrived, in a very few minutes, the flames were coming out the windows.

Two men, from the Baron Long Indian Reservation, Augustin La Chappa and Felix Camacho, rushed to the scene and tried to get in to the victims, but were driven back by the intense heat.

Mrs. Phelps' five other children survived and were taken to her father, their grandfather, Charles Deming on Highway 80, Alpine. They are, a boy Gus, 11, the eldest; a girl, Nora, 9, and three small boys, ages 2, 3 and 4 years. Nora said her brother Robert who lost his life, was carrying the 11 months old baby, trying to get out when he fell with the child. Mrs. Phelps is in County Hospital in serious condition from burns and cuts but is expected to recover.

Fair Features Grandfather's Farm

The big-city youngsters, as well as their country cousins, will have an opportunity to visit a real old-fashioned farmyard barn as it looked in grandpa's time, at the Southern California Exposition and San Diego County Fair June 29-July 8.

Ready for viewing for the first time is the new attraction, "Grandfather's Farm," a free and unique display created by fair manager D. Robert Jones and agricultural instructors of county schools.

To recapture this scene by a bygone era, the fair erected an entirely new building faithfully reproducing a typical old-time country barn. It is located on the concourse just off the Avenue of Flags, adjacent to the puppet show stage.

Children will see 10 stalls containing a collection of small farm animals including baby pigs, lambs, calves, goats, burros, ponies, and tack room display of old harness saddles and farm implements. Youngsters can "feed the animals," a church in the town, the nearest one being the First Lutheran Church of El Cajon. Pastor of that church for 12 years had been the Rev. Tedrahn who founded it in 1946 and remained at its head until he retired in February 1958.

"I had eight months retirement," he smiled, "then they got me out here. It was Mrs. Westfall who was behind it. She was a member of the church in El Cajon." Mrs. D. Westfall is a well-known local club woman.

Rev. Tedrahn is an impressive individual both in appearance and manner. His 50 years as a churchman have given him an air of kindly leadership which inspires his followers. His congregation love and value him. A 1912 graduate of the Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Rev. Tedrahn will celebrate his 50th year in the ministry this year.

His first church was in the heart of the Kansas dust bowl at Oberlin. Later he moved to Illinois where he preached for 37 years in the Chicago area before coming to California. The sermons in Illinois were all delivered in German of which language he has fluent command.

The name Tedrahn is of ancient Anglo-Saxon origin, the pastor said. His brother traced the family to England and Germany of 1050.

Rev. and Mrs. Tedrahn live in El Cajon. They were married on August 4, 1912 just eight days before he entered the ministry. This August the El Cajon and Alpine Lutheran churches will combine to celebrate the twin dates. The day will begin with the service at the First Lutheran Church of El Cajon followed by a reception. Mrs. Tedrahn's brother, Rev. Dr. Erwin Kurth, a Lutheran pastor in Los Angeles, will preach the sermon.

There are eight Lutheran synods in the United States. The local church is of the Missouri Synod, the largest constituent part of the synodical conference, was organized in 1847 and is the leader in the conservative group among the Lutherans. As of 1959 the membership was listed as 2,304,962. The local church opens each Sunday morning with Sunday School at 9:30 and church at 10:45.

Children's Day At Del Mar

Children under 12 will be admitted free to the Andy Griffith Show at the San Diego County Fair, at 4 and 3 p.m. June 29, 30 and July 1. General admission for adults is $1, box seats $2. The show, featuring Griffith, also includes the Magic World of Allakazam, the Modernaires with Paula Kelly of Glenn Miller fame, and master of ceremonies Johnny Mat-

Alpine Gardener

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

PORTABLE PLANTING THE GRACEFUL FERNS

Ferns are comparatively easy to grow, either in shady corners out of doors or for indoor culture. Moisture and protection from too much sun are the two prime requirements. Good drainage is essential, of course, and this can be accomplished by a mixture of equal parts oak leaf mold, garden loam and coarse sand with peat moss lining.

If ferns are to be planted in pots, but broken bits of pot, a few small stones and a few pieces of charcoal in the bottom before putting in the planting mixture. Remember that most ferns like acid type soil, like oak leaf mold with the peat moss added to keep the mixture porous.

There are a great many types of ferns from which you may choose. It would depend on the location you have in mind for the plant, or your plan for its use. There is the Hawaiian tree fern for a choice outdoor spot in your patio. Sword ferns would be nice as background for lower type plants such as Impatiens and the like. Then there are the lower, more spreading ferns suitable for placement around rocky areas to make them tie in with other parts of your garden. Among these are the shield fern, lady fern, boulder fern, oak fern and the lovely little coffee fern (which is a wild one) and many others.

For house ferns to be planted in pots or baskets, there are the Boston fern, hare's foot, stag horn, and the tender holly fern and maiden hair. This last one I have found quite hardy, too, and have one growing outside in a shaded corner the year round.

Fern baskets and balls can make a cool spot of green for indoors when there is not much of a choice of flowers in your garden. Line a wire or wooden basket with moss and then with leaf mold and peat moss mixed plant spleenwort, northern maidenhair, purple cliff-brake, Holly fern or any others you may see in your favorite nursery. There is also the resurrection fern ball which is interesting to watch unfold from a seemingly lifeless dry state in the matter of a few hours. All ferns need to be kept moist but not soaked.
