TREE TRIMMING PROJECT AT CURVE ON ALPINE HEIGHTS ROAD

Last Sunday, a group of the residents on Alpine Heights Road armed themselves with saws and axes and trimmed the large pepper trees on the Claude Clerk property on the North side of Alpine Heights Road and Lilac Lane.

The pepper trees had grown so large, and branched out to such an extent that their heavy foliage extended almost to the road right-of-way of the sharp curve at this location. Realizing that the obstruction of the view around the curve was a traffic hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Clerk gave consent to the residents who have to use this road to trim these trees in a manner that would clear the view around the curve.

So last Sunday a group of neighbors proceeded to do the necessary trimming, and left the location in a very orderly condition.

The project was organized by Al Adams who recruited as his helpers Rich Zuelke and his son, Rickie, and Stanley Rios from Willow Glen Farm.

Controls Put on Cattle Feed Lots

The County Board of Supervisors last Tuesday passed an ordinance placing controls on the establishment or expansion of cattle feed lots within the county. The ordinance is effective in both zoned and unzoned unincorporated areas. The ordinance was passed as an emergency order and went into effect immediately.

The placing of restrictions on cattle feed lots was brought about by a situation which had developed in the Descanso area during the past year. In April of 1963 residents in the Valley of the Oaks section of Descanso protested the establishment of a cattle feed lot on the ranch owned by Joe Mag-

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LaFORCE

Have you been noticing the Yucca this spring? They are more beautiful and more numerous than I've ever seen them. People who've been around here longer than I have, say they can't remember a more spectacular crop. I counted 103 gorgeous blooming stalks of them on one plot and, in many other areas they can be seen blooming in groups of 10 or more. Those creamy-white wax-like blossoms inspire awe in this one already quietly bedazzled by the endless artistry of the Flower Maker. He must have a special sympathy for desert areas since he gives them this most perfect creation.

I was surprised to discover from the wild flower book, that there are some 15 species of Yucca native to the United States. Nine of these are said to grow to be small trees. They also grow profusely in Mexico and down into Central America where they often flourish so healthily they form tangle forests, reaching heights of 30 to 40 feet. Sounds exaggerated, doesn't it? Well, I didn't really believe in the dahlia tree, either, till I saw it. The Joshua Tree is listed as a member of the Yucca family. Our Yucca is the one the early Spanish visitors called Mission Bells, and Quixote plant, and which the Indians are supposed to

Micro Cars to Start Point Season Sunday

The little micro cars will race at the Alpine Speedway on Highway 80 this coming Sunday afternoon starting at 1 o'clock.

The races Sunday will be the opening of the official point season at this new speedway. Two trophy dashes, four heat races, a semi-main event and a main event will be run. Cars are expected to participate from San Diego County the Los Angeles area, and the El Centro area. The points acquired at the races at the Alpine Speedway will count toward National points and are accumulated over the racing season. Mr. Bob Browne, President of the Alpine club, was the second place winner nationally last year, and will be competing here for points for first place for this year.

The season had been set to start in Alpine last Sunday, but inasmuch as it was Mother's Day, the starting date was postponed until this coming Sunday.

Since the Alpine Speedway has been opened considerable local interest has developed, with new members joining and starting to build cars.

ALPINE-LAKESIDE SCHOOL UNIFICATION PROPOSED

The Board of Trustees of the Alpine Union School District heard a report at their meeting last Monday night from Board Chairman Charles Campbell and District Superintendent Paul Clay of a meeting of the Grossmont District Augmented Committee for Unification. They reported that, after a discussion on the unification of the entire Grossmont Union High School District, that a vote was taken of the members who voted 12 to 8 to adopt a plan of unification that calls for the entire high school district to be divided into four separate unified districts. One would include as a separate unified district the Alpine district and the Lakeside district.

Alpine Fire Dept. Given Commendation

Jerry and Ruth Harmer, owners and operators of Florence's Market, have expressed their thanks to the volunteer members of the Alpine Volunteer Fire Department for their excellent work in extinguishing the fire which occurred in Florence's Market last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmer were absent from Alpine on a trip to Imperial Valley on the night of the fire, and on their return found that the volunteer firemen had responded within minutes after the fire alarm had been given despite the malfunction of the fire siren, and had extinguished the fire before it was able to do more than minor damage and had conducted their fire fighting in a way to prevent damage to the merchandise.

They have expressed their appreciation and thanks to the members of the Fire Department in a letter to Chief Jack Blankenship which reads as follows:

"We are addressing this letter to you with the thought that it embraces the Alpine Volunteer Fire Department in its entirety.

"The words, 'thank you', are

Hootenanny at El Cap High School

A Hootenanny will be presented tomorrow evening, Friday, May 15th at 8:00 p.m. at the El Capitan High School Gym in Lakeside. Regis Philbin will be the Master of Ceremonies. Featured will be the folk singing of The Townsman and other singing groups.

The El Capitan High School Band Parents Club is assisting the band members in raising funds to purchase new band uniforms and is sponsoring the Hootenanny for this purpose.

Both Mr. Campbell and Mr. Clay stated that in their opinion the proposed plan is the least objectionable of the several plans that have been discussed by the members of the augmented committee. The adoption of this proposed plan, however, does not determine that this type of unification will be accomplished. The committee has scheduled a public hearing to be held on June 3 at the El Capitan High School auditorium in Lake-

It was good to see so many parents from our area turn out for the annual Music Festival, held on May 5 at 10:15 a.m. at the Mt. Empire High School Gymnasium, in Campo. All the elementary schools in the district perform in this musical show. The high school choir and band also take part. The theme for this year was "Song and Dance," with each group doing a dance to a chosen song. The Descanso primary grades did a flag drill to the tune of "There Are Many Flags" with some of the students marching, and others carried flags of different countries. The upper grade students did "Turkey in the Straw," and danced the Virginia Reel. Everyone present enjoyed the show very much, and the children had lots of fun doing it. Mr. Bert Robertson, MEHS music teacher was director of the show. Accompanist was Janice Johnson, and Jamey Campbell, ASB President, was narrator.

Renovation of Clubhouse Planned

The Crest Woman's Club has issued an appeal for community aid and cooperation in the remodeling and renovation of the La Cresta clubhouse. The Woman's Club signed a lease for the clubhouse in February, and now have found that in order to hold a dance, a program, or gathering of any appreciable size, the doors will have to be widened, the windows have to be repaired, and Fire "Exit" signs installed in order to comply with existing fire safety regulations.

The club would also like to install an accoustical ceiling which, as presiding "Tommy" Newman says, "Would not only help keep down nerve-racking reverberations, but would greatly improve the appearance of the entire building."

Old Globe Drama Well Done

They call the play currently showing at the Old Globe Theater a psychiatric detective story since it searches into a difficult period in the life of Sigmund Freud. Set in the time of his struggles as the father of psychoanalysis, 1893, it is handsomely costumed, and the stage dressed in appropriate lace curtain style.

Directed by Craig Noel, "A Far Country" is played by Martin Sheratte as Dr. Freud, and his patient, a young crippled Viennese lady, is played by Linda Kampley. An able supporting cast makes the play absorbing entertainment and gives the theatergoer some pause for thought since it is based on actual events said to be authentically treated by playwright Henry Denker.

The play will run nightly except Monday through May 24.

Jess Mancil and the ox team he raised and trained in Texas.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

Oxen as farm plow animals are usually thought of as belonging to the rather distant past. We hear the creak of heavy wheels when they speak of the ox-drawn cart, and think of pioneer days before the steam engine was invented.

But here in this picture we have a sturdy team of oxen which were photographed by Alpiner Hollis Mancil in 1939. The scene is his father's farm in Texas and the handsome young man beside the team is Hollis' father, Jess Mancil. Hollis says he and his brother used to wonder about the old days when ox were used instead of mules and horses, so his father decided to give them the experience of seeing how it was.

The two long horned steers were raised on the Mancil farm and trained by the boys with their father's help, to work to the plow and cart. Mr. Mancil senior, who is a very talented wood worker, made the ox yoke the critters are wearing. Hollis said the animals were stronger than horses, and were very intelligent and faithful workers. No bit or bridle was necessary for driving them. Mr. Mancil guided them with words and sometimes the crack of a whip in the air. This team was used for plowing and other farm work for several years. "It wasn't because we had to use them," said Hollis, "we had mules and horses, but we just liked the ox that well." He speaks of it as a wonderful experience and a very fond memory.

George Behrens displays commemoration trophy presented to him by The Crest Fire Department and the community.

IT WAS A 'REAL GEORGE' DAY

Saturday, May 2, was a combination of National Fire Service Day and "George Behrens Day" on the Crest.

The community's streets were lined with people who turned out to watch the morning parade which started off the festivities. All businesses and organizations were represented as the gaily decorated cars, floats and horses toured "The Loop," led by the flashing lights and sirens of the Fire Department trucks carrying the "Queen of the Crest" and her consorts.

At Nancy Jane Park, Margaret Vigil was officially crowned Queen, with Myrna Coleman and Rosemary May serving as her attendants. Then came the fire department demonstration, an impressive display of equipment and techniques which gave ample reasons why the Crest outfit has been called the best volunteer fire department in the county. Two trucks, with full crews, took part in a simulated house fire, with two "victims" being given resuscitation, both by mouth-to-mouth, and the new portable resuscitator. Proper First Aid procedures were demonstrated by the recently qualified department.

Following this display, a crowd of over 350 adults and 300 children adjourned to the La Cresta Clubhouse, where they were served dinner. The Woman's Club donated the use of the building, and all the coffee the crowd could drink—well over 12 gallons. The PTA, Civic Group, and the fire department donated huge hams, the VFW provided the bread and cups, and there were numerous casseroles, potatoes, salads and desserts given by various members of the community.

Following dinner, Garrett McClung, master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers. George Wolff, unofficial historian of the Crest, named many of the original "settlers," and told the incredible tale of the beginning of the Crest Fire Department. Wolff said, "18 years ago, our 'fire department' was a flat bed trailer with a 55-gallon drum of water mounted on it." The first man there, hooked up to whatever car or truck he had, and off they went. Upon hearing of a government surplus truck up for auction, the residents voted $275 to try for it. At the last moment, the ante was raised to $276, and the Crest got its first fire engine by a bid of exactly $1 above the nearest competitor. The community gave art shows, fairs, and bake sales to raise money for another old truck. Wolff says after it was purchased, a gas station owner on Highway 80 had to donate spark plugs so the 'new' equipment could make it up the hill." And for over three years, this was the Crest fire department. Ignaccio Leone, engineer with the Poway Fire Department, then

Immunizations for Foreign Travel

The San Diego Department of Public Health advised persons planning foreign travel this summer to see their private physician at least six to eight weeks before departure to obtain required or recommended immunizations.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, pointed out that most immunizations necessary for foreign travel are given in series over an extended period of time.

The U. S. Public Health Service, he said, requires all travelers to be immunized against smallpox for re-entry into the United States from almost all foreign countries. The San Diego Department of Public Health also recommends immunization against typhoid and paratyphoid fever and tetanus for all international travel. Cholera immunization is required for travel to Asia.

Persons traveling to the moist tropical forests of Central and South America and Africa are required to be immunized against yellow fever. Yellow fever immunizations are given in this area only by the U. S. Navy. The Navy requires anyone wishing a yellow fever immunization to present a letter of authorization from the San Diego Department of Public Health. The letter of authorization states the time and location where the yellow fever immunization may be obtained. This letter may be obtained at the Primary Health Center at Civic Center in San Diego or at any of the public health centers in Escondido, Oceanside, El Cajon, Chula Vista, Southeast San Diego, East San Diego and Pacific Beach.

The U. S. Public Health Service also recommends immunization against poliomyelitis for all foreign travel. Dr. Askew emphasized, however, that the San Diego health department urges all persons to keep their polio immunizations up

RD SYMPTOM ALERT

Emphysema, a potentially fatal lung condition, is still little known to the general public although it is reported by the medical profession to be increasing in prevalence at an uncomfortable pace. As a cause of death in the United States it already exceeds the still troublesome tuberculosis.

Physicians who have dealt with emphysema report it can have tragic effects other than death where treatment is long-delayed.

This disorder is only one of a considerable spectrum of respiratory diseases—sicknesses of the breathing system—against which the Christmas Seal association is emphasizing its efforts in "RD Symptom Alert" this month and next. Common symptoms of RD, against which this earnest group wishes to alert us, are chronic cough and shortness of breath.

The motto of this educational program is: "Cough too much? Short of breath? Don't take chances with Respiratory Disease. See a doctor!"

This warning applies not only to emphysema and TB but to a group of disorders almost too long to list, let alone define. It includes such chronic diseases as asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchietasis, lung cancer, and others.

The Tuberculosis and Health Association of San Diego County is seeking no contributions as it carries forward this fight. It seeks only our sensible heeding of its warnings. In view of the evidence that vast numbers of lives could be saved thereby, what the Association asks seems little indeed for all of us to give.

have called God's Candle in their own language. The slightly smaller stalks, with the blossoms tinted purpleish along the stem, are called Spanish Bayonet. Their dark purple fruit is edible. These two species seem to be those most common to our community.

If you see moths busily working around your favorite Yucca plant these balmy evenings, don't get upset. Let the moth flit and do spare the insecticide! She is the Yucca moth whose sole mission in life seems to be to pollinate the divine plant which decorates our countryside. This Yucca and moth relationship is one of the fascinating mysteries of the plant world. The moth performs a precise ritual. First she scrapes off the pollen from the blossom and makes it into a ball. When she has visited enough flowers and rolled up a ball two or three times the size of her own head and flies away to another flower which is just right for pollination. Here she makes an incision in the flower's pistil, puts her egg into the cut, and then runs to the top of the stigma and rams the big ball of pollen which she has carried with her, into the funnel, insuring the setting of the seed. Without this moth our most gorgeous wild flower would soon cease to be. Of course, without the Yucca, the moth might also become extinct, if you must be practical!

In addition to being very beautiful the Yucca is a very useful plant. Many of the native people who live in Yucca lands eat the fruit and strip the tough fibers of the leaves for use in weaving fabrics and making matts, hammocks, ropes, sandals and other useful and decorative things. The Arizona Indians call the plant the soap plant for they use the juice of the roots to wash their hair. These Indians are still using the yucca for basket making with the designs centuries old, and the same weaving methods. Anthropologists studying the recent excavation at Mesa Verde, Colorado, have discovered that the Indians of that long ago date 1100-1300 were using the Yucca for fiber and possibly for food. They found baskets exactly like the ones being made by the Indians of that locality today. The earlier natives also made sandals of the tough yucca fiber. Ropes were made of it and matts and it was used as sewing threads and for paint brushes. It was used as thread in weaving their rabbit fur and turkey feather blankets well preserved remnants of which have been found in the ruins.

This tells us a poignant story of these people who left no written record unless it is contained in the designs on the Yucca fiber baskets. This much we do know of them through the Yucca: they respected it, for they did not destroy it; they understood its value and used it with intelligence. That's more than many so-called "civilized" people have done to the forests and fields of this country. The Yucca is a symbol of something fine and eternal. I hope future anthropologists will find traces of it when they dig us out of our ruins some day.

Schrade Reports On Legislation

While we mark time on our two major problems, next year's budget bill and state support of the public schools, other measures of considerable importance to the state as a whole are making progress through both houses. Some measures have already passed both the Assembly and Senate, and have been acted upon by the Governor. Signed and now law is the one to provide local property tax relief to those who suffered property damage because of the tidal wave which swept Crescent City after the Alaska earthquake. Income tax relief for those in the lower brackets has passed both houses, but in differing versions.

Probably of the greatest statewide significance is the group of bills which would revise in various ways the formula under which the State and the City of Long Beach share oil royalties derived from operations in the submerged tidelands long since decided to that city. At present, the State and the City share on a 50-50 basis, but it has generally been conceded that this division favors the City greatly at the expense of all other taxpayers in the State.

New discoveries in the drilling area indicate a huge potential in total revenues to the State and the City—some $2 billion over the first ten years or so of production. The Senate Natural Resources Committee held a number of hearings on various aspects of the problem. As the result of these deliberations, two different bills were introduced, both of which would transfer all balances of oil revenues to the State after specified payments to the City, but which differ as to the formula for such payments, and in the provisions governing the sizes of leases permitted with private operators.

A far different approach to the problem is contained in a bill which grew out of a series of conferences between state fiscal authorities and officials of the City of Long Beach. This measure, heard by the Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency, would reduce the net share of the City on a schedule basis, until it reaches a minimum of $1 million per year after 1988. This bill would also provide for "unitized" operation of the new field by a single contractor, who would be permitted to retain 67½ percent of the oil and gas production upon payment of royalties. This provision was strongly criticized by spokesmen for independent oil refiners on the ground that it would create a virtual monopoly.

Another area of current legislative activity relates to proposed laws on state lotteries. Because the State Constitution now prohibits the Legislature to authorize lotteries, and requires it to pass laws outlawing the sale of lottery tickets, constitutional amendment is necessary to legalize them. Earlier this session, a proposed Assembly amendment was introduced to authorize a state-operated lottery, the net proceeds of which would be earmarked for education.

About the same time, circulation was begun of an initiative petition to legalize a lottery which would also provide a ten-year monopoly for its operation by a specific private company. This petition quickly rolled up over 300,000 valid signatures, and has two weeks more to go for sign-up. The Governor promptly added the subject of lottery control to the agenda for the special session. Two different proposed amendments to eliminate private operation were introduced, both of which have received favorable reports from an Assembly subcommittee, and await further action.

To Your Health... ...by Sir Spunky

HOW'S YOUR BREATHING?

It was very dramatic. The report of the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health, after much preliminary discussion and fanfare, was released to newsmen in a closed and locked room.

But the excitement proved justified. The report contained an exhaustive discussion of the effects of smoking on the human body. Its repercussions will be heard for a long time.

One particularly timely set of facts in the Surgeon General's report concerns the relationship of smoking to a group of Respiratory Diseases that are non-cancerous (or, in medical terms, "non-neoplastic"). Of this group, emphysema and chronic bronchitis are most directly related to smoking. The report points out that these ailments are on the increase, and that they "contribute to the excess mortality of cigarette smoking."

What's so timely about that? Simply that respiratory diseases right now are the subject of a vigorous nationwide Alert being conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliates throughout the country from now until June 15. The Alert isn't specifically tied in with smoking, but seeks to remind all Americans of two very common symptoms of Respiratory Disease. Their names are Chronic Cough and Shortness of Breath.

Whatever may be the immediate cause, a cough that won't go away or shortness of breath after no special exertion can mean that serious trouble threatens one's breathing apparatus. The Respiratory Disease Symptom Alert sums up the whole story with its slogan: "Short of breath? Cough too much? Don't take chances with Respiratory Disease. See a doctor." Whether you have ever smoked or not, this message is pertinent to you.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Tuberculosis and Health Association of San Diego County—your Christmas Seal agency.

Will Conrad was a lay minister in Lakeside, Alpine and the surrounding area from 1903 to 1923, moved to Los Angeles in 1923, and then back to Old Town in 1946, where he resided until his death in 1961. Mrs. Conrad has lived with her children since his death.

Graveside services were held Wednesday at the Alpine Cemetery with Rev. J. Carl Plummer officiating.

TERRY BUCHMILLER

Graveside services for Terry Buchmiller, 21, will be held in the Alpine Cemetery on Friday, at 10 a.m. He was accidentally killed on May 9 in the home of his parents in Salinas, Kansas, where the family has resided since November, 1963.

The Buchmiller family resided on Holly Road in Alpine for 14 years and Terry attended grammar school in Alpine and graduated from Grossmont High School.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Buchmiller.

Officiating at the services will be Dr. Roger M. Larson of the Alpine Community Church. Local arrangements were made by Paris Mortuary of El Cajon.

Slow Drivers Must Use Right Lanes

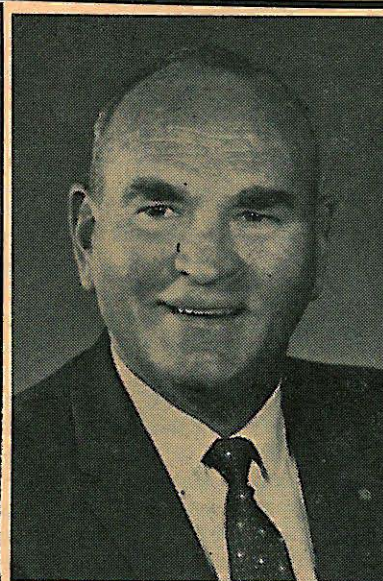

Too many motorists still are driving in the fast lanes of multi-lane highways and freeways at speeds slower than the normal flow of traffic, California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said today.

"The situation is better than it was a year ago," he added, "but there is still room for improvement. We plan to continue our combined program of enforcement and education as long as necessary to gain voluntary compliance with the law."

Crittenden noted that during 1963, CHP officers cited 11,054 violators who failed to drive in the right hand lane when proceeding at a speed less than the normal speed of traffic at the time.

"Slow-moving drivers in fast lanes contribute heavily to rear-end accidents, the most prevalent kind of traffic mishaps on freeways. In addition, they create other accident-causing situations when impeded motorists get impatient and make unsafe lane changes," he concluded.

Cindy's of Alpine Moves to New Location in Center of Town

The popular Alpine sportswear center, Cindy's of Alpine, moved last weekend to a new location in the center of the business district. It is now located in the corner store in the Butcher building formerly occupied by Isobel's Gift Shop.

The move was made from the old location on Highway 80 at the East end of town to acquire a larger display area and display windows which are available at the new location.

Cindy reports that all the new summer stock of sportswear from Bette of California, Ship & Shore, Catalina Sportswear, Roseda Stretch Pants, and shifts from Ed Kolber of Miami, is arriving. She estimates that everything will be received by the end of May. In addition to these lines, Cindy carries Kayser lingerie, costume jewelry, Talbot sweaters, and other accessories. She is currently making arrangements to carry imported Hong Kong sweaters, which she states will not be received until just in time for Christmas shoppers. These imported sweaters are hand knit and hand embroidered with sequins and jewels. A short movie is available for viewing at the store showing scenes of Hong Kong and the sweaters being made as well as the finished products.

The new store has been completely renovated and remodeled by Cindy with attractive display areas. The outdoor signs are still to be installed, and new lighting fixtures will be installed inside. The new location affords another attractive business activity in the Alpine area.

Woman's Club Names New Officers

At its meeting Tuesday, May 11th, the Alpine Woman's Club elected a new slate of officers for the coming year. To be installed at the club's final meeting of the season in June, the new ladies at the helm are, Mrs. Goldie Vancil, President; Mrs. Pete Putnam, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Paul Clay, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Flora Hill, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. Marcus Schaeffer, recording secretary; Mrs. LeRoy Simms, Treasurer; Mrs. Ed Orhom, Corresponding Secretary. All officers are new except Mrs. Simms who takes the treasurer-ship for the second term.

A most enjoyable program of songs by her Alpinettes was presented by Mrs. Lenore Lusk, outgoing program chairman. Mrs. Lusk chose a nostalgic group of old songs in keeping with the day's theme which was to honor members of long standing. Her songs dated back to before 1900 up to 1939. Singers were, the Mesdames Judy Ellis, Jerry Webb, Doris Todhunter and Ann Morris all charmingly costumed in gowns

Profile. (Another in a series of articles to introduce and better acquaint you with another of your friends and neighbors in our community). Sarah Jane Schaab first saw the light of day in Whitewood, Saskatchewan, Canada in the year 1898, as the only child of a Northwest Mounted Police and his wife. When she was three, the family moved to Wilson Creek, Wash., where Jane started her schooling. Four years later her dad was killed in an unfortunate accident; after which the family made several moves before settling in Spokane where her schooling was completed. After an early marriage, Jane moved with her two children, Jim and Henry, to Portland, Ore., where she owned and operated a beauty salon for 15 years. In 1941, Cupid's arrow struck in the guise of a handsome Navy chief, Frank Meanea, GMC, USN, and the couple courted until they tied the knot on June 7, 1942. The newlyweds moved to San Diego, in the vicinity of Balboa Park, during which time Frank was overseas for two years. Frank retired from the Naval service in 1945, after which the Meaneas tried their hand at business and residential property, land-lording, and chicken ranching to name a few. At this time, they bought their property, with a cabin on it, in our community. Through years of hard work, capable and willing hands, and a knack for landscaping coupled with two "green thumbs," Frank and Jane now have a beautiful home surrounded by flowers, trees and birds, envied by their neighbors, and eye-catching to the passers-by. Aside from pursuing their hobbies of gardening and fishing, both Frank and Jane have been very active in community and civic activities, ranging from road development, petition work being the "unofficial greeting and welcoming committee" to friends, neighbors, and strangers driving past the Meanea Place. Both Frank and Jane are charter members of the Deerhorn Valley Civic Club—Frank having served as vice president, and Jane as treasurer and vice president. So in case you didn't know before, when you drive past the dip at Meanea's, the lady that waves to you from the window is Jane, and the feller that waves from the garden, garage or under the pick-up, is Frank—so, wave back to two good friends, neighbors, and citizens of our community.

USS Permit, to Mare Island Naval Shipyard at Vallejo, where it will be based for the next five months.

First Lieutenant Phil Papin surprised his mother, Bernice Reynolds, with a visit over the weekend. Phil had been in Phoenix for a week, and called on Friday night, saying he would be able to spend a day or so with them. On Sunday, Bernice and Al drove him to Morton Air Force Base in San Bernardino, where he will be for the next three weeks, participating with his group as an umpire in the Desert Strike war games, to be held near Salton Sea, before returning to his base in Madison, Wisconsin.

Mother's Day was celebrated at the Chapel of the Hills on Sunday morning with the giving of bouquets to mothers in several categories. Mrs. Buster Norvell was given the bouquet for having the most children in church; Mrs. Marshall received hers for being the oldest mother, and Mrs. James Dyer, for being the mother of the youngest baby. Each lady present was given a carnation to wear.

Bill and Betty Van Dusen have participated in several flower shows during the past few weeks. They had a beautiful commercial exhibit at the Iris Show in Balboa Park, and also displayed some flowers at the Flower Show in Lakeside. Betty says the iris should be in full bloom in a week or so, and invites everyone to come by and see them. Anyone interested may write for a free catalog.

spoke a few words. Leone conducted the recent first aid course here, and was presented a memento of his time and efforts.

The main speaker was Walter Francis, of the California State Forestry Service. Francis said, "in the 40's, the words 'Suncrest' and 'Fire' were synonymous to the Forestry." He said the Crest averaged three to four major (threatening the entire area) fires a year, and scores of smaller blazes. Francis said, "On the parade route this morning, I looked for a part of this community which had not, at some time, been involved in fire, and could find none." Francis stressed that newer residents can have no idea of what the older people went through, and gave George Behrens the lion's share of credit for the fact that the last major fire on the Crest was in the early 50's.

George Behrens was then presented with a gold plaque with his Fire Chief badge mounted on it. The marble base holds a golden replica of a speeding fire engine, complete to every last detail, from hoses to men hanging on the back. The plaque is engraved, "Presented to George Behrens in recognition and appreciation for outstanding community service from 1954 to 1964 as Crest Fire Chief—by the Crest Local Fire District on behalf of a grateful community. Fire Service Day, May 2, 1964."

There was a standing ovation as Behrens, visibly moved, said, "And I thought they never knew a fellow was alive, until after he was dead." The former fire chief accepted the plaque "For all who have worked so hard to make this possible." He spoke of the first firehouse with its 110 volt, hand-operated siren, and praised Moza Gosselin, "Sweetheart of the Hill," who for 10 years took all calls and manned the siren until her "retirement" in 1957.

George also expressed gratitude to his wife, Evelyn, "Why for over five years, ran her home, the beauty shop, and the fire phone at the same time." Behrens concluded, amid another standing ovation, "Each and everyone of us should thank God for the volunteers who put the department where it is today—so we no longer have to be afraid."

quired, but applicants should have some ability to dance. Auditions open Sunday, May 17 at 2 p.m. in Falstaff Tavern adjoining the old Globe Theater in Balboa Park. The dances on the green, old English country dances, are similar to our square dance. Solo and small ensemble singers will be needed as strolling troubadours.

Here's your chance to help celebrate Shakespeare's 400th birthday singing and dancing before the plays to be given this summer. Associate Director William Roesch will stage these pre-play performances.

Alpine Newcomer

struction in basic drawing, all media of paints, sculptor, and at all levels of achievement. Several students are accomplished artists already having been exhibited locally. Two ladies who attend, come all the way from San Diego. Explaining his hope of enrolling artistic newcomers, Flatt said, "it is not enough for me to have a student learn to create only—but I gain tremendous satisfaction in seeing a beginner catch on fire, with the idea itself of creating." This is also his reasoning behind the nominal fees. Persons interested may contact Flatt at home, 445-2167.

With his wife, Laura, and four daughters, Cheryl, 10, Michele, 9, Suzanne, 8, and Felicia, almost 4, Flatt arrived in San Diego this winter from three years in the Canary Islands, Spain. Their route led them down the Bahamas, through Vera Cruz, Mexico City, and Guadalajara. Long time friends in La Jolla recommended Alpine "where the sun spends the winter," and the Flatts settled here in December.

A son, Gordon, is a junior, majoring in biology at the Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, Tenn. The three older girls are busily settled at Alpine Elementary. Laura, an artist in her own right, and Clarence are enjoying our fabulous mountain scenery.

Mr. Flatt's paintings and sculptor have been exhibited widely on the Eastern Coast and mid-west. He is a graduate of the Tyler School of Art in Philadelphia and studied portraiture under Wilson Brinebrink, at the Maryland Institute in Baltimore. Oils are his main media. He was forced to give up sculpturing due to a spinal accident six years ago. His major field was portraiture for 15 years but the past 10 or 12 has seen him "go modern." Explaining this trend, Flatt said, "it is like so many things in life and art, it is inexplicable."

Before going abroad in 1961 the artist lived in Delaware where in addition to his art work, he was a teacher at the Society of Fine Arts in Easton, Md. and the Wycom Art League in Salisbury, Md.

For the past three years, Santa Cruz de Tenerifi, Canary Islands, has been home for the family, with Mr. Flatt commuting often from Europe, a mere 800 miles or four hours by air. On the European continent he enjoyed an extended study of the old masters studying in museums such as the Prado in Madrid, the Louvre and Rodin Museum of Sculptor in Paris and the Spanish Village in Barcelona.

Quite a few of Flatt's students have gone on to achieve high honors in their chosen fields. Nance Hall Asher, Mary Pepper and Gene Long were successful pupils of his in the east.

Nationally known artist, Andrew Wyeth, is a personal friend, who, Flatt recalls was a co-exhibitor on many occasions. "I remember a particular work," said Flatt, "a black crow, which sold for $50. Recently it resold for up into the thousands." Wyeth has received the highest price of any living painter, for a work sold to a museum. Flatt says, "he is known as the fabulous artist, but we call him the mystical realist."

There are other levels of realism, however. One of them is the love of inspiration, the desire to instill in others a beauty and culture to be found only in the heritage of creativity. Clarence Flatt is doing this. Alpine is being offered this heritage. "A whole new dimension has been added to my life," said one of Flatt's students.

Alpine welcomes this "new dimension" and extends sincerest wishes to Clarence Flatt for continued success in his new hometown.

LET WANT ADS WORK FOR YOU

ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

My enthusiasm has considerably dampened this week because of my battle against gophers who seem to be digging mounds all over the place. It looks as if they were converging on our yard. I have caught several with traps and it's true, of course, poisoned grain might help eradicate them. The poisoned grain helped get rid of ground squirrels, at least for the time being.

The aphids are getting their destructive work in now too so keep that spray gun handy, using malathion or a rotenone or pyrethrum spray.

I have used Ant Barrier with good results to get rid of ants. It comes in push-button top bottle. Follow instructions on the bottle and while on the subject of lethal doses, try chlordane five percent powder sifted in or around a mole run. Wet the powder so it will soak into the soil and it should discourage this marauder.

With the return of warmer weather try to keep a mulch of some sort around all your plants, especially around the roses. The ground dries out so quickly without it.

Where the iris are still blooming tie tags on them so you will know the colors in case you want to move them or divide the clumps. Feed your camellias and azaleas, if they have stopped blooming, with an acid fertilizer and apply mulch. Start pinching back your chrysanthemums before they get too high and continue pinching back until the middle of July or a little later. That would apply to other rank growing plants such as phlox, lupines, oriental poppies and others.

Joyce and Judy Cross, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cross of 122 Wall Place, have won first place in the San Diego area Youth For Christ Music contest. The girls are scheduled to sing at Hume Lake on May 22 in the State competition. If they win the State contest, they will go to Winona Lake, Ind. for the national contest in July. Good luck, girls, you can do it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wolff of 2170 West Drive, celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary Friday, May 8. The Winbergs, Willard, Jennette, Diana and Marcella, all descended upon the Wolffs in the evening, singing "happy anniversary to you," and presented them with a beautiful bouquet of radishes in honor of the occasion. Congratulations, "Tootie" and "Mr. Magoo."

Mr. and Mrs. John Berg of 2125 Crest Drive spent Mother's Day at the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John DeGrazier. Another daughter, Mrs. Martin Sites, and her family were also there. Connie DeGrazier, 8, made her first communion at the Blessed Sacrament Church in San Diego.

Attention, all parents and music lovers: Crest School is giving its annual Spring Concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 21. The Crest Glee Club, made up of 40 pupils from the fifth and sixth grades, will present a program entitled "Highlights of American History in Music." There will be typical and topical songs from the landing of the Pilgrims to Aloha, in salute to our 50th State. Jimmy Young-husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Younghusband, will be featured on the drum in the Glee Club's rendition of "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home." The boys in the club will offer "Song of the Westward Movement," and the girls will sing two songs of the period in history when the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States were being written.

True-blue rule for cooking vegetables—if the part you eat grows beneath ground, it grows covered in cold earth. Start cooking in cold water, and cover pan. If the part you eat grows above the ground, it grows uncovered in the sun. Start cooking in boiling water with no lid. Cook 'em as they grow, and you won't go wrong.

Handy Household Hints

(For Harried Homemakers)

If your family and finances are at all comparable to mine, you have blessed the egg ranches which sell "crax" for 25c-30c a dozen. But do you then run into the difficulty of attempting to hard-cook them for the small fry? Wrap the cracked egg in saran-wrap, twist the ends, and cook over very low heat (eggs should be simmered, never boiled), for 15 mins. No more pan full of erupted white—no more empty egg shells.

When you feel like getting really "fancy" in the kitchen, and do not have the sour cream that French recipe demands, add 2 teaspoons of lemon juice to each cup of sweet cream, or 1 teaspoon of vinegar to each cup of evaporated milk. Presto—sour cream.

When making 4-inch tart shells, use the lid from a 1 pound coffee can to stamp out pastry rounds. The job goes fast, the rounds are all neat and even, and they fit perfectly into 4-inch pans, with no trimming needed.

COKE'S KITCHEN

It's rhubarb season again and how it grows in Alpine. The recent rains have really helped those delicious tall red stalks.

A recent letter from an aunt living in Belfast, Ireland mentioned that their favorite rhubarb dish is Rhubarb and Ginger Jam. I'll try to get the recipe for you real soon. Rhubarb grows in Belfast with such good results, the neighbors call it a weed.

RHUBARB ICE CREAM

2 cups diced pink rhubarb
1 cup water
1 cup sugar
1 T lemon juice
3 drops red food coloring
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

In saucepan, combine rhubarb, water and sugar. Boil 10 to 12 minutes until sauce-like. Cool. Blend in lemon juice and food coloring. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze to a mush, 1 to 2 hours. Remove from freezer and gradually add to beaten egg white, beating on low speed on mixer until rhubarb mush and egg white are blended. Fold in whipped cream. Return to freezing trays, fills two trays two-thirds full. Freeze two hours before serving.

RHUBARB-ORANGE PIE

8 inch baked pie shell
¼ cup orange juice
3 cups rhubarb, cut in 1 in. pieces
1½ cups granulated sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
2 egg yolks
2 T butter
1 T grated orange rind
3 to 4 drops red food coloring
½ cup whipping cream
2 T powdered sugar
½ tsp. vanilla

Combine orange juice and rhubarb in saucepan. Cover and cook over medium heat until mixture boils; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Combine sugar with cornstarch; blend into rhubarb mixture. Beat egg yolks slightly; blend into mixture. Return to heat, bring to boil and boil 4 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in butter, orange rind and food coloring. Cool. Pour into cooled baked pie shell. Chill until ready to serve. Whip cream until stiff. Fold in powdered sugar and vanilla. Spoon on pie just before serving.

MRS WRIGHT'S RHUBARB PUDDING

Very simple and good—place a layer of diced rhubarb, bread cubes (dried), raisins, sugar to taste in a buttered casserole—bake until crusty and rhubarb is tender.

the entire burden of this expenditure alone, and is asking the whole community for support. As Mrs. Newman puts it, "If this work is not done, through lack of funds or labor, just where will the Crest hold its public and organizational functions? The clubhouse was built in 1939, and has served the Crest well for 25 years. Now it needs a complete overhaul structurally, and a face-lifting aesthetically." The president points out, "The entire Crest uses this building, let's all get together and see what needs to be done, is done, to keep the La Cresta clubhouse in proper order for the use of the Crest."

to date whether they plan to travel or not.

Immunization against diphtheria is recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service for young travelers under 15 years of age. Young adults are advised to discuss with their private physician whether diphtheria immunization is advisable for the countries they plan to visit.

Immunization against influenza, typhus and plague are recommended only if a traveler is going to an area where those diseases are occurring. Dr. Askew suggested that persons planning foreign travel ask their physician or the health department about the advisability of these immunizations for the particular areas they plan to visit.

Dr. Askew added that persons traveling abroad are required to carry an International Certificate of Vaccination, which may be obtained from the U. S. Public Health Service, the Passport Office at the new County Courthouse at Broadway and Union in San Diego, travel agencies and the San Diego Department of Public Health.

All immunizations required for entry or re-entry into a country must be listed on the certificate with the signature of the physician who gave the traveler each immunization. The certificate should then be taken to the San Diego Department of Public Health or any of its health centers for validation or may be mailed for validation with a stamped return envelope to the San Diego Department of Public Health, Civic Center, San Diego, 92101.

JAMUL

By THERESA EGAN

Services were held last week for Alley F. Smith, 65, resident of Jamul, who died May 4. A native of Tennessee and a carpenter by trade, he'd lived here twenty-four years. He leaves his wife, Sylvia, three sons including Ernest of Lemon Grove, and 2 daughters, Mrs. Oleta Sanders of Jamul and Mrs. Irene Graves of San Diego. Interment was in Greenwood Memorial Park.

The Community Club meeting Friday, May 15, will be preceded by a potluck dinner at 7 p.m. Mr. Atkins from the Tax Assessor's office will speak at the meeting. If you've been planning to attend sometime this would be a good opportunity to get acquainted.

Ladies, the Jamul Beauty Shop has reopened, and Mrs. Eva Sweeney, the new owner, tells us the shop is open from 9 to 5, five days a week, being closed Sunday and Monday. Customers report themselves well-pleased with the results of her work. A resident of El Cajon, she was formerly with a shop in Spring Valley. To make your appointment call the same old number, 463-0102.

Ruth Daniels, the former owner of Jamul Beauty Shop, is looking forward to May 29, the day husband, Bob, retires from the Navy. He holds an electrical license, but before buckling down to business he, Ruth, and daughter, Nancy, 13, will treat themselves to a vacation in the Sierras, this side of Lake Tahoe. They plan on renting the place of friends for 2 months, fishing, hunting, etc. Nancy's ability in cooking and sewing have been a wonderful help to Ruth these weeks she's been laid up. Though they've sold their mobile home they'll be in it until school closes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bird were among the 18 members of the Tierra Del Sol Club taking part in Indio's 4-Wheel Drive Cavalcade, Saturday and Sunday, May 2 and 3. Jeeps, Scouts, Land Rovers and Toyotas were among the 300 4-wheel vehicles participating in the Indio Club's run. The campsite, 3 miles off Painted Canyon Road on the road to Blythe (Hwy. 60 and 70), looked like a subdivision newly sprung up, with its trailers and campsters. The Birds pulled their 16 ft. trailer and participated in the run with a Toyota, a six-cylinder Japanese vehicle. A trail boss went to the desert before the weekend and mapped out a course. Saturday certain classes of 4-wheels competed in drag races and a hill climb; and there was a drawing in the evening. Sunday's cavalcade played follow the leader eleven hours through a 33-mile canyon, a route both scenic and difficult. Competition isn't featured on this run, the rough rocky terrain being challenge enough for any man. Earl Stanley Gardner, noted author of mystery novels and several books on the desert, took pictures of the weekend's activities from a plane, as he did last year. San Diego's Tierra Del Sol Club has a run once a month.

Lars Carlson, James Ansell, Fred Rohr, Josephine Sturdivant, Katherine Black, Mike Liebert, Adella Sells, Harry Colby, Ed Orbon, and J. C. LaForce. Some now quaint looking dresses were worn. Mrs. Putnam wore a circular skirt number we all remember from not too long ago; Mrs. Orville Palmer wore a middie blouse and skirt uniform from her San Diego High School days. Mrs. Black wore the dress, a pretty satin sheath drape which she bought to wear on the day when she joined the club.

Mrs. Colby was very pleased to show the First Place award for drama and speech which the local club won for the Southern District from the State Convention. She announced that the award was won on the strength of the excellent programs presented by Mrs. Lusk and the fine report of the club's drama and speech work presented by drama chairman Mrs. Orbon.

A delicious tea was served by Hostess Mrs. Lars Carlson, who wore the gold crown she was awarded by the club, as Queen for the day. gio. The Board of Supervisors at that time passed an ordinance to regulate cattle feed lots but the ordinance was rescinded a short time later. Since that time Mr. Maggio has enlarged his cattle feeding operation to the point where a number of residents in the area including Mrs. Howard Hutchison, who owns land and a home across the street from the feed lot, made a strong protest to the Board of Supervisors who, after reviewing the situation, passed this emergency ordinance to set strict regulations governing the establishment and operation of feed lots in order to protect the public health and prevent the maintaining of objectionable activities in all parts of the county. Mrs. Hutchison who is a spokesman for the group states that the odor and flies developed by Mr. Maggio's operation is so serious and so detrimental to the residents in the immediate vicinity that the County Assessor has made a substantial reduction in the assessed valuation of their properties. She further states that the group has sought legal counsel and intends to file a suit for damages and abatement on the grounds that the operation is a private nuisance.

used daily in all of our endeavors. However, our thanks to you and your fine department go much deeper.

"Just a week ago this morning, your department answered an alarm that concerned our business and the economic lives of some five local families employed in this business. Without thought of risk to their lives and their families, they controlled a fire that was reduced to moderate loss from total loss.

"Tudy and I well realize that none of the members of the department HAVE to answer the alarm, but these skilled and dedicated members of our community and the department did so and did the finest of jobs.

"We are so grateful that we have men like this in our community and we know that the entire area is proud of their skill and dedication.

"Our sincere and deep thanks to you and every member of the department for the help you have provided us to be able to continue our business."

It was reported the morning after the fire that the fire had been reported to the Fire Department by a telephone call from a person who did not give his name. This information was not correct. The fire was reported by Mr. Harold Phibbs of Descanso who delivers the San Diego Union in the Alpine area, and who observed smoke at Florence's Market while making his rounds, and immediately drove to the fire station and personally gave the alarm. Mr. Phibbs states that he makes a habit of being on the lookout for such happenings as fires while making his rounds in the early hours of the morning.

Mrs. Ruth McManus has been appointed in charge of obtaining sponsors for the classes. Mark Beresford will be in charge of publicity for the show. Other committee members working on the various phases of the show are Corky Jones, Henry McKie, Orville Palmer, Ross Mallette, Bob Wilson, Jack Hoistad and Herman Snodgrass. Mrs. Myrtle Hofelder will act as horse show secretary.

Last Saturday morning as I was hosing the kennel runs I glanced up on our back hill and saw a beautiful sight. About 15 horsemen were riding down the fire break from the top of the hill, strung out almost single file, with all the bright colors of their clothing and their horses making a brilliant picture against the green hillside. They were the members of the Pequeno Riders on a break-fast ride and they made the most of one of the first beautiful days we have had for some time.

Speaking of the Pequeno Riders, they will hold a horse show at the Irvine Ring this coming Saturday. This show will be open to club members only, and will offer a full schedule of classes.

Mrs. Coddington had received one of Kathy's questionnaires on breeding and was so impressed with it that he stopped to visit with her to discuss breeding methods in greater detail. Kathy is presently evaluating the answers on the approximately 100 questionnaires that were returned to her in this survey. She received replies from breeders of horses, cattle, dogs, and chickens, all of whom have very similar breeding practices and problems. We have been promised a copy of Kathy's findings and are looking forward to having it.

Plans are underway for the erection of historical marker signs at the site of historical interest. The first two signs to be erected will be those at Fuller Hall and at the Alpine Woman's Club. It is anticipated that these signs will be erected in time to have dedication ceremonies at these two historical sites at the time of the next membership meeting in July.
