ALPINE ECHO

Serving a Growing Area of Homes and Ranches

View of the damage to the awning and stucco on the George Butcher Building on Highway 80, Alpine, caused by truck wheels. Echo Photo.

TRUCK WHEELS CAUSE DAMAGE TO ALPINE STORE BUILDING

Loose truck wheels ran into the front of the George Butcher store building on Highway 80 in Alpine last Tuesday morning at 2 a.m. The bolts holding the left rear dual wheels on a semi-truck traveling West through Alpine broke, releasing the wheels which bounced through the air, striking the metal awning in front of the McCoy Real Estate office, and hitting a protruding corner of that portion of the building occupied by Smith Realty. The wheels then bounced back, easterly, and came to rest near a telephone pole approximately 75 feet away.

The truck proceeded westerly, sliding on the brake drums and was brought to rest by the driver, Mr. Boyd Bennett who was not injured, is about 300 or 400 feet in front of the Haney Chevron Station.

The truck is owned by C. R. England & Sons whose headquarters are in San Diego.

Fair to Open at Del Mar Tomorrow

Judging by the sparkling and spectacular lineup of events and exhibits, the 1964 San Diego County Fair will live up to its slogan: "The Liveliest Days of the Year."

There will be 10 lively days of fun and entertainment, beginning June 26 in the 75th renewal of this now-annual county-wide extravaganza which started in 1880.

One of the nation's largest and finest, the San Diego County Fair

INTIMATE GLIMPSES

By BEA LaFORCE

Well, they've finally given Americans the ultimate insult! They are saying that the cannibals in Polynesia are no longer allowing their tribes to eat Americans. The reason? We are considered to be poison because of the amount of insecticide residue our flesh is alleged to contain. This statement is from an English newspaper account in which Lord Shackleton, British nobleman, announced that Britons are tastier eating than Americans. He said that recent figures showed Britons had only two parts per million DDT in their bodies, whereas the figure for Americans is about 11 parts per million.

The Englishman goes on to explain that "in the United States practically every meal contains some DDT." He said it is found especially in our dairy products, because DDT has an extraordinary affinity for fat. This situation just must be corrected! When we are marked off the cannibal menu we are at the very bottom of the status scale indeed. Apparently the Polynesians are still dining on Britons. You know what this will do to our reputation with our English cousins, many of whom are still a little bit annoyed about that Boston tea business a while back. We'll be discussed at every fashionable tea table. It's not just everyone who can be considered suitable fare for a cannibal feast these days!

Seems more people and groups are swatting at insecticides now than at the bugs themselves. They're doing research on the effects of music on the growth of plants. Results so far indicate that the plants benefit greatly from sweet songs sung in their presence. At a recent International Botanical Congress, one scientist read a paper which told of an experiment in which plants were exposed to a daily concert of flute music for each of thirty days. In the control group, the plants of similar size and potential health, were grown without musical accompaniment. At the end of the 30 days experiment, the plants grown with music were 25 per cent taller, had put on 50 per cent more leaves which were 30 per cent longer and broader than the control group produced. In all except the music, the two sets of plants were given identical treatment.

State to Improve Roads in County

The State Highway Department has called for bids to be opened on July 30 for the improvement of two sections of State Highways in San Diego County.

The proposed improvements include the re-surfacing of a section of State Highway 94 from a point one half mile east of Jamul, through Dulzura to Engineer Springs, and also the re-surfacing of U. S. 395 in Balboa Park from the U. S. 101 interchange to Landis Street.

ALPINE SCHOOL BOARD TO CONSIDER SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS

The Board of Trustees of the Alpine Union School District, at their meeting last Monday night, authorized the County to prepare the proceedings for the sale of $124,000 of bonds. District Supt. Paul Clay presented to the Board a program of improvements which he recom-

National Forest To Close Areas

Stanley R. Stevenson, supervisor of the Cleveland National Forest has announced that nearly one-fifth of the high value watersheds in the forest will be closed to all public entry effective Wednesday, July 1.

The areas to be closed consist of the more inaccessible steeper slopes of the forest. They will be posted with "Closed Area" signs at all road and trail entrances at intervals along the "Closed Area" boundaries.

Stevenson noted that some 15,000 acres on the south end of the Trabuco Ranger District, which have previously been "closed," will remain "open" this year. This area lies south of the Ortega Highway between the Tenaja Ranger Station and Lake Elsinore. Stevenson

New Substation to Serve Alpine Area

Construction of a new substation to provide for the electrical needs of the growing Alpine area will begin soon, the San Diego Gas and Electric Company has announced.

A company spokesman disclosed the utility has acquired a 2.12-acre parcel of land about three miles south of Alpine for the new substation. The site is on the Sequan Truck Trail about a mile southwest of the intersections of Dehesa Road and Tavern Road.

Completion of the project will require an estimated three or four weeks. The new substation will step down 69,000-volt current from the El Cajon-Descanso loop to 12,000 volts for distribution in the Alpine area.

The new facility is part of the utility's continuing program to expand its distribution system in anticipation of community growth.

Pine Valley Firemen Plan Annual Ball

The Pine Valley Firemen will hold their fourth Annual Firemen's Ball on July 4th at the Pine Valley Clubhouse, at 8:30 p.m.

The volunteer firemen and many of the ladies are busy getting everything ready for this big dance. This will be the fourth such dance sponsored by this group and it promises to be the best of them all. Music will be furnished by the popular Shado's band, well-known in the area. Music of the types to suit all age groups will be played.

The Pine Valley Fire Department was formed approximately 18 years ago, and in that time all of the equipment has been bought by donations from the local people. The funds from this annual ball will go for additional equipment needed to continue the work of the department and to help keep Pine Valley as it is.

ended be constructed during the next fiscal year. If the Trustees approve the improvements recommended, the bonds will be sold in the amount necessary to cover the cost.

The bonds proposed to be sold are bonds which were previously authorized at a bond election for capital outlay at the time of the construction of the Harbison Canyon School, but were not required for the work and have remained unsold.

The improvements recommended by Supt. Clay include the paving of an area at the Alpine school, landscaping at all three schools, the building of fences, classroom improvements, and the construction of a multi-use building at the Harbison Canyon school.

The Trustees discussed the present status of unification in the Grossmont Union High School District. It was reported by Supt. Clay that a new plan was being developed and proposed by some of the elementary districts within the high school district which

Summer School to Start Next Week

The Alpine summer school session will start next Wednesday, July 1, at 8 a.m., at the Alpine school. All the students who have a slip signed by their parents giving permission, will be taken to the County Fair at Del Mar on the first day. They will leave from the school at 8 a.m., and will return about 3 in the afternoon.

Between 195 and 200 students have pre-registered for summer school classes according to Supt. Paul D. Clay. Mr. Leo Ryan will be in charge of the summer school program. Mrs. Tiejens, Miss Russell, Mr. Gibson, Mr. Ossana and Mr. Gaston will be the teachers.

The program planned will be similar to last summer's program with enriching and extending classes as well as classes to help students who might be having trouble with regular classes. The social studies classes will study the Orient in a specially planned program.

Brush Fires Start In County Areas

The first brush fires in rural areas of San Diego County were reported last Tuesday.

A fire started a short distance east of Highway 79, one mile north of Highway 80, which burnt seven acres before being extinguished by U. S. Forest Service fire fighter crews from El Cajon, La Mesa, Ramona and Julian. Bulldozers and planes were also used.

Another fire was started on the same day on the Los Coyotes Indian Reservation near Highway 79 east of Warner Springs. This fire burnt about three acres of brush and two unoccupied houses before the U. S. Forest Service brought it under control.

BOYD EXHIBIT AT ORR'S GALLERY

Jack Boyd, son of Verlie Boyd of Alpine, is now being presented by Orr's Gallery in San Diego in a showing of his sculpture. Jack was born in San Diego, but lived most of his childhood in Alpine on the family ranch where his parents brought him and his brother Ronnie when the still lives.

Jack is a self-taught sculptor, painter, and silversmith with significant talent in each of these art forms. He has won national prominence with his work and in 1960 was the recipient of the Thomas M. Messer Award, given annually at the California Art Festival in Laguna Beach, Calif. His work has been exhibited often at the La Jolla Art Center and San Diego Fine Arts Gallery. Jack has also exhibited in Seeger Gallery in Scottsdale, Ariz., and in New York City, Chicago, and Beverly Hills. He has shown in a German gallery and has a show coming up soon in Finland.

People who have purchased his work to add to their private collections make an impressive list of those who know and appreciate good modern art. Jack's metal sculptures are those that have won him much acclaim. He works mostly in metal now. He has attained a level envied by many artists for he makes his talent pay so that

Mothers Surprised On Father's Day

Charles Podvin, son of Mrs. Fern Podvin, Crest librarian, came home from Los Angeles this past weekend, bringing with him his friend, Karen Knieps, and her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Knieps, of Los Angeles.

Sunday, Father's Day, Charles took the three women to Shelter Island for a dinner he promised would be "special." After they were served, Charles said, "We wanted our two mothers to be the first to know—we haven't told another soul yet," and proceeded to present Karen with a lovely engagement ring. The young couple plan to be married Sept. 26.

What makes the story unusual, is what was revealed when the two mothers began to compare family backgrounds. Mrs. Podvin

State Rangers Host Crest Fire Crew

On June 16 and 17 the San Diego County Units of the California Division of Forestry held their annual "Fire Camp" at Lawson Valley. The two-day demonstration and testing events featured a simulated fire, named "Hafdel." There were competitive trails of hose-lay, line cutting (brush), area estimation, drafting, and tests on fire fighting techniques and the driving of fire equipment.

The "fire boss" was Jack Skeels, assistant Ranger, and State Ranger James Finland was in charge of the over-all operations.

A six-man crew from the Crest Volunteer Fire Department were special guests of the Rangers. The crew boss was Scott Newman, and his men included Tom Clifford, Donald Coleman, Bill Hunter, Paul Mon Dragon, and Mike Knutson. Scott was unable to be present when the picture was taken.

Scott says, "We learned a great deal which should stand us in good stead with the approach of what threatens to be one of the worst fire seasons we have yet experienced." His crew agrees with him.

Church Gathering A Real Success

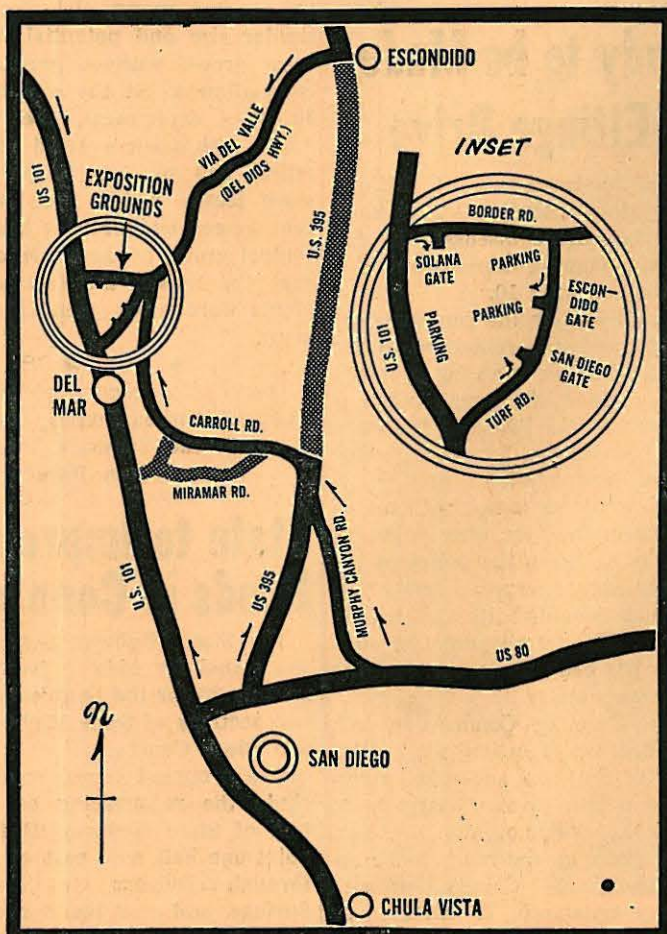

The Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church of the Willows undertook to cook and serve the dinner last Friday night for the monthly church family fellowship night. It proved to be a "fish fry" with many side orders and with an abundance of food for the largest group ever to attend such an occasion. The chief chef was Herbert Craft who had a good company of male helpers.

The dinner was followed by a social time with songs, games and special selections under the leadership of pastor Hayman.

This was the night of the same day which brought to a close a very successful Vacation Bible School conducted for five days. The special program for the Vacation Bible School took place Sunday night with an overflow congregation of parents and friends.

Refreshments and a display of children's artwork concluded the evening. A church and Sunday School picnic is being planned for the near future.

THE ANNUAL FIRE HAZARD

Each summer in the mountain areas there exists a fire hazard. The severity of the hazard depends on the amount of rainfall during the winter months — the more the rainfall, the more luxurious the winter and spring growth of the grass and weeds, which become tinder dry in the summer months causing the fire hazard.

The unincorporated areas of the County are fortunate in having two agencies, the U.S. Forest Service and the State Division of Forestry, whose duty it is to attempt to prevent the start of fires and to extinguish fires when they do get started. Some sections are still more fortunate in having local fire districts who also assist in these functions; such as, Crest, Harbison Canyon, Alpine and Pine Valley.

Each summer it seems that no matter how carefully these agencies patrol their areas in an endeavor to educate the residents and visitors regarding the proper way to eliminate fire hazards, many fires do get started. Many times these fires have a disastrous result in destruction of property and the loss of life.

Last winter there was sufficient rainfall to grow a luxurious crop of grass and weeds which are now drying out. Fires started in such a growth can quickly get out of control. It behooves every resident and visitor in our areas to become acquainted with the fire regulations in order that they may use proper caution and prepare their premises in a manner to protect themselves and their neighbors and reduce the fire hazard to the absolute minimum.

said completion of a new Forest Service road into this area enabled him to leave it open to public use. He stated that the new road provides Forest Service fire fighting forces a route of rapid travel to any fires originating in the newly opened area.

Stevenson stated that persons having official business in "Closed Areas" may enter them by obtaining a written permit from the District Ranger.

The closed areas include the area east of Pine Creek to Corte Madera, from U. S. Highway 80 to Barrett Lake; all National Forest land on Palomar Mountain excepting Forest Service public campgrounds and the area immediately around them; all of the Trabuco Ranger District from Los Pinos Portero north to the Forest boundary in Santa Ana Canyon. Maps and complete descriptions of the restricted areas are available at all Forest Service stations.

Stevenson urged everyone to be careful with fire of any type in the long hot, dry, summer and fall seasons ahead.

Salt Water Conversion Plant Due

Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin, was notified today that the Office of Saline Water, Department of the Interior, has awarded the Fluor Corporation of Los Angeles a contract of $124,500 for architectural and engineering design for the new Point Loma sea water conversion plant.

"The government has made good its promise to San Diego to provide a replacement plant for the one that was sent to the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, during the February crisis," Van Deerlin said.

cause of the way its foliage closes up tightly when touched or the plant is shaken. This plant, when given daily violin concerts of 25 minutes each, developed 35 per cent more leaves than similar plants denied the musical encouragement. It's difficult to see just how this unique knowledge could be applied in any practical farmer's corn patch, but it probably will be, if the news gets around and the public is convinced that corn grown to the strains of Chopin is more tender and sweeter than corn hearing only the chug of a tractor, or the clop-clop of the mule's feet and the gee-haw of the farmer. Will carrots grown without a few hours of Brahms become too common to use?

Here's where the insecticide-againers come into the picture. They point out that nature has always known the benefit of sweet sounds to growing plants. And they have a point here. A big point, for it is true that nature gives many singing bugs to the green season. We all know the pleasant hum that makes the summer evenings sweet to our ears. This insect music in the leaves and grass is the most ancient of symphonies.

I'm not one to throw out all bug killers and let all bugs thrive. However, I do believe the song of insects is a most felicitous part of the drama that is the growing season. Wouldn't it seem strange and awesome to step out under the stars these summer nights and not hear the familiar night song of the cicada? And whatever would the TV westerns do for their night sound affects, if there were no cicadae to chirp off the silent footage, while the hero shows us his profile as he sniffs the wind for hostile Indians? We'd best stop the extravagant use of insecticides and let the cicada sing! Heaven only knows what noise the TV might use as a substitute! And then there is that business of the cannibal menu.

ers are in Salt Lake City. The trucking company is a bonded Idaho potato dealer, but transports produce throughout all parts of the country. The load on this trip was frozen Long Island ducks which were being transported from New York to San Diego.

The damage to the building consisted of breaking off a number of the metal slats of the awning, and damaging a portion of the exterior stucco of the protruding corner at a height of about four to six feet above the sidewalk.

Mr. Butcher was quite philosophical about the accident. He said, "They'll fix it up. It's remarkable that none of the glass windows were broken."

Burning Ordinance

into effect 31 days after the date of its passage.

The new ordinance will require that written permits must be obtained for any open burning during the entire year, and also requires that incinerators must be approved for use and can only be used between the hours of 4 p.m. to 7 a.m. from November 1 to May 31, and between the hours of 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. from June 1 to October 31.

The ordinance also prescribes the manner in which property owners must maintain their premises in order to eliminate fire hazards.

Residents of the Fire District desiring open burning permits should call the Firehouse, 445-2746, or leave notice at the Alpine Firehouse. Inspection will then be made by the Fire Marshal and approval given if no hazard exists. The telephone number to call in case of a fire is 445-2343.

The intrigue of a continental love triangle is portrayed in Starlight's opening show "Song of Norway," by the Countess Louisa, played by Beverly Burnham, Edvard Grieg portrayed by Gene Clarke and his sweetheart Nina, acted by Mary-Esther Nicola. The show runs for two weeks in Balboa Park Bowl, starting July 16.

DEERHORN VALLEY

Destructive acts of vandalism are still occurring in the Monte Robles section of our community—aside from the previously reported occurrences, Dave and Sarah Barnum's place has been hit again as well as Roy Meyers. Neighbors have been keeping their eyes open, but apparently the perpetrators haven't been spotted as yet. Dave Barnum ran a roving patrol last weekend but saw nary a thing. Let's hope that we've seen the end of these destructive acts.

Ron and Rose Sherby's well casing's all straightened out, and with help of Charlie Armstrong, work on their prospective home is progressing. While Ron and Rose are working on their place they are renting a place on Monte Robles Acres so as to eliminate the long haul up and down the hill. The Sherbys held a little "get-acquainted with our mountain retreat" party for a group of their friends from town last Sunday.

We're sorry to see Judy and Walt Ferrero move off the hill—they'll be residing in National City, probably until the little stranger arrives.

Mr. Kenneth Kendall, Lay Member, and Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Meier attended the 114th session of the Southern California-Arizona Annual Conference of the Methodist Church this past week at Redlands. Rev. Meier was reassigned to the Chapel of the Hills for the coming year. Rev. Alan Gorsline, son-in-law of the Meiers was appointed to the Chapel of The Valley Methodist Church in El Cajon. Rev. and Mrs. Gorsline recently returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he completed his theological training at Candler School of Theology, at Emory University. Until the time of his graduation he had also been serving the Methodist Church at Tyron, Ga., under appointment, making it possible for him to receive his elder's orders at this Conference. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gorsline of Lancaster also attended the ordination service. His wife, the former Patricia Ann Meier, taught in the public schools of Atlanta while Alan pursued his seminary work. Both are former graduates from California Western University in San Diego.

A going-away party honoring Lola Wick and Billie Hill was given by the WSCS at the home of Mrs. Don Perkins on Monday night. About 30 friends and neighbors enjoyed refreshments and a nice evening of visiting with Billie and Lola. Billie and her husband, Buddy, and their family have moved to San Diego. Lola, and her husband, Russell, and daughter, Lisa will be leaving soon to move to Yuma, Ariz. These families will certainly be missed in the community.

The Teenage Club enjoyed a beach party, last Monday evening, at Mission Beach. They swam, took advantage of the rides at Belmont Park, and in between times ran back to the fire they had built on the bay side, to warm up for another go-round. From all reports, a real good time was had by all.

There are three people who are really showing results of a visit to the beach in the last few days. Skee Scott has a very red face, all the time, and Bill and Jean Wallace are having a terrible time being able to sit, stand, or lie down. Respect that old sun near the ocean—he can be a real wicked one.

The Firemen's Auxiliary's potluck supper of last Saturday night was a real success. Door prizes were won by the following, Valorie Clouse, Robert Carmen, Blanche Beeson, and Jackie Hettinger. Guests from as far as Lemon Grove were on hand to enjoy dishes of "good country cooks," one told me. We'd like to extend a very hearty thank you to all who came out, and bought tickets, and helped to make this enjoyable evening a successful and profitable one.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Moore returned last week from a three-week vacation to the East coast. The Moores each returned to their respective colleges, for their 50th anniversary of graduation. Mr. Moore went to his at Maryville College in Maryville, Tenn. and Mrs. Moore went to hers at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Penn. After the reunions they traveled by bus to Newark, N. J. Upon arriving there they decided to spend the night before traveling to Mrs. Moore's relatives in Brookline. But much to their dismay, their luggage wasn't with them. They spent the night and most of the next day waiting for it. The Moores also visited the World's Fair for two days. The highlights of the fair for them were the pavillions. Included were the Ford, Mormon, Telephone, Billy Graham, the Vatican, where they awed at the sight of Michelangelo's "Pieta," the General Electric, Nationalist China, and the Protestant Pavillions. In the latter they enjoyed the much talked about movie, "The Parable." The Moores said that they had to wait anywhere from one to two hours to enter some of the Pavillions, but it was well worth the wait. But listen to this, after all that waiting it took the Moores only six hours to return home to San Diego from New York.

Another family from our mountain is going to visit the World's Fair. The Carl Hagadorns left this week for a whole month's vacation. They plan to mix business with pleasure and also plan to visit Carl's family while on the East Coast.

 Republican Women, Federated. Mollie Martin was chairman of the barbecue, and as usual did a wonderful job. Many candidates in the next election were present to meet the people, among whom were Assemblyman Hale Ashcraft, State Senator Jack Schrade, and Henry Boney, candidate for County Supervisor.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tarwater were surprised Sunday evening when a group of Lake Morena people arrived at their new home for a housewarming party. Each person brought a can of fruit or vegetables, which was presented to the Tarwaters. Ruth Lawrence furnished cake and Dell Nielsen the ice cream for the party. Everyone had a lovely time.

A loud report in the area last Saturday turned out to be a tree which had fallen on the garage at the Sam Martin house. Mr. and Mrs. Riddle are tenants of the dwelling. The garage and contents were badly damaged.

It would be well worth any ones time to drive through Lake Morena right now. The wild flowers on the south side of the road, just after turning off Buckman Springs Road are simply beautiful. The ground had been cleared there for building purposes, and the rains this year caused the flowers to be in greater abundance than usual.

We predict a brilliant future for Alpine's hard-working young sculptor with many honors to add to those he has already gained.

Exhibiting with Jack is well-known San Diego physician, Dr. Harold C. Tolbert, whose very modern paintings have won for him much favorable notice. He has exhibited often in local galleries and his works are to be found in some noteworthy collections. ALPINE GARDENER

By JEAN McCULLOUGH

Now is the time to exercise your powers at flower arranging. With so many flowers to choose from, make your bouquet as simple or as elaborate as you wish. A good simple rule is to have no more than three principal blossoms, or more of each kind. Then use baby's breath, or fever-few, as filler-inners with the foliage of the principle blossoms. Have the bouquet no more than once and a half the height of the container or it might look top heavy.

One flower we are all blessed with around Alpine is the good old geranium, an almost year round bloomer. Another favorite of mine is the Beloprone, or shrimp plant, another year round bloomer which we do not see used rarely enough. The blossoms are a coppery bronze with a tiny white tip.

The pelargoniums are pretty well past their bloom and need to be pruned. They are a very colorful member of the geranium family to be cultivated more in our gardens. The range of colors of these pelargoniums is unbelievable and very beautiful.

Pedestrians Urged To Use Caution

"Drivers often get the blame when a pedestrian is struck by a car—but frequently it is a violation by the person walking which causes the accident," Bradford M. Crittenden, California Highway Patrol commissioner, pointed out.

"In 1963, for instance, 14,437 pedestrians were injured or killed in California accidents. About 1000 of these persons had been drinking. Other pedestrian violations among the top accident producers are walking on the wrong side of the road and failure to yield the right of way to a vehicle outside of a crosswalk. The latter includes jaywalking, and stepping out from between parked cars."

The commissioner said that pedestrian fatalities are more likely to occur at night. "Six out of 10 pedestrian deaths occur during darkness, and about the same number involve persons over 45 years of age."

"The message is clear for the pedestrian. Know and observe the law. Don't cross the street at mid-block, for instance. And walk on the left side of the roadways where no sidewalk is available."

"Use common sense, as well. At night, remember the driver can't always see you, just because you can see his lights. Dark clothing is particularly hard to make out. Try to cross streets at lighted intersections, but don't cross until you are sure you have ample time."

One way to have a colorful garden with a minimum of care, is to stick to some of the simple plants, such as geraniums, petunias, daisies, nasturtiums, larkspurs, fever fews and baby's breath, and not try to compete with the nurseryman as to variety.

Of course, you should have chrysanthemums and dahlias and a few other plants to be coming on for your garden in the fall. How about those hanging baskets filled with some fuschias, campanula, ivy, or succulents such as burros tail, sedum sieboldii, heartvine, rice cactus or the lovely Empress cactus which bears such lovely pink blossoms, to enliven those shady patio corners? One never has a dull moment around a flower garden.

Handy Household Hints

(For Harried Homemakers)

To clean glass vases that have become stained, add some tea leaves to warm water and let it stand in the vase for several hours. Empty, then wash vase out with hot soapsuds, and rinse in clear, hot water. Another idea, soak in a strong solution of hot vinegar, then wash in clear water. Either way, the sparkle returns like magic.

Do you have a doorless closet or cupboard you would just as soon wasn't open to prying eyes? Hang a Venetian blind in front of it—provides for ventilation while giving privacy.

Life insurance for fine glassware, a glassmaker confides this nice little secret for strengthening your delicate glassware and making it less fragile. Put it into a vessel filled with slightly salted water, allow to come slowly to a boil. The slower the boiling, the harder your glassware will become.

Next time you sew with double thread, pull through to even length, then knot each end separately instead of both together. Thread will not snarl or break as when two ends are knotted jointly.

To sew plastic, place a piece of newspaper (The Echo, of course), under the material to keep it from sticking to the sewing machine.

To lengthen skirts when you have no matching material to provide good facing, try bandage gauze. Its preshrunk and doesn't pucker when laundered.

Until spectacles were introduced in 1300 A.D., millions of near-sighted people lived out their lives unable to see mountains, clouds or stars. The inventor of spectacles is unknown but Benjamin Franklin invented bi-focals.

COKE'S KITCHEN

We were lucky this week. A good friend and his sons spent four days in La Punta, Mexico and came home with "mucho" fresh fish.

If you haven't tried barbecuing fish, it is delicious. By making a square retainer out of aluminum foil, adding a little cooking oil to keep fish from sticking, brushing with melted butter, salt and pepper, our outdoor fish fry was fun and easy. Barbecued fish, crisp green salad, hot crispy French bread, garlic-scented and our dinner was complete.

By the way, my friend freezes her fish in water. When completely frozen she takes the pan away and stacks them like blocks of ice in her freezer. The fish has a fresh taste after months of freezer storage.

BARBECUED SHRIMP

2 pounds large green (raw) shrimp
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1 large garlic clove, minced
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. coarse, freshly ground black pepper
 1/2 cup minced parsley
 Peel and devein shrimp. Cream butter; add remaining ingredients and stir to mix well. Tear off six 9 inch strips of heavy duty aluminum foil. Fold each in half to make a 9 inch square. Divide shrimp equally on pieces of foil. Top each with one-sixth of butter mixture. Bring foil up around shrimp and twist slightly to seal. Knock the gray ash off the briquets. Place shrimp on briquets, barbecue five minutes.

BARBECUED LOBSTER

Allow one small lobster per person (1 to 1 1/2 pounds). They must be split lengthwise and cleaned, with the large claws cracked. The market will do this for you.
 When briquets are covered with gray ash and very hot, space them half to three-quarter inch apart and knock off the gray ash. Place lobster on the grill, shell-side down three or four inches above briquets. Barbecue 15 minutes. Brush lobster generously with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with salt and coarse freshly ground black pepper. Turn and barbecue three to five minutes longer. When lobster is done, shell is bright red. Serve with lemon wedges.

CHEESE TOPPED FRENCH BREAD (FIXED ON GRILL)

Cut a loaf of French bread in half, lengthwise. Brush generously with melted butter or garlic butter. Sprinkle liberally with grated Parmesan or sharp Cheddar cheese. Put halves together; wrap securely in double thickness of heavy duty aluminum foil. Place in warming oven 15 to 20 minutes, on grill 10 to 12 minutes or on briquets, 6 to 9 minutes. To serve, slice crosswise to make sandwiches.

Electric Range Prize At Baking Contest

For those ladies with a flair for baking the San Diego County Fair has a special treat . . . a baking contest. A favorite Butter Cake or Cream Pie recipe can win a brand-new 1964 model electric range for the lucky grand prize winner. Second prize is an electric rotisserie-oven, third prize an electric handy size skillet with control. All contestants receive an ice cream scoop.

To enter the contest take your Butter Cake to the Home Economics Building on the Fairgrounds between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday, June 29. The pies are entered on the following day, Tuesday, June 30, at the same time and place. No entry blank is needed and your cake or pie will be your ticket to the Fairgrounds.

Three entrants in the cake contest and three in the pie contest will be selected on the basis of the excellence of the cake or pie to compete for the grand prize. All entries must be accompanied by a neat and clearly written recipe. Any type of Butter Cake or Cream Pie using fresh milk is eligible to compete.

Finalists will prepare and bake their cakes at the Fairgrounds Home Economics Building on Thursday, July 2, beginning at 10 a.m. Pies will be judged and baked on Friday, July 3, at the same time and place.

Any resident of San Diego County may enter, except professional bakers and home economists. The contest is sponsored by the San Diego Gas and Electric Company, San Diego Milk Council and the Southern California Exposition. For further details contact any of the sponsors.

Fair to Open

drew 338,000 persons through the turnstiles last year to smash the all-time attendance record by 46,000—an unprecedented increase in a single year.

"We will present the finest fair in our history—in quality, in variety, in new features, and in value for the fairgoer," Fair Manager Roy Welch told reporters.

Among the new attractions expected at the Fair this year will be the D. Robert Jones Youth Center, the first new building on the grounds in more than a decade.

"The $200,000 building, named for the Fair's youth-minded manager who died early this year, will house Junior Fair exhibits and activities, and a major educational display within its 8,000-square-foot perimeter.

As usual Don Diego (Tommy Hernandez) and Linda Taylor, the 1964 Fairest of the Fair, will greet visiting state, county and city officials.

Headlining the liveliest Fair ever will be these key features:

- (1) "The Old Diego Trail," a 50-foot animated diorama, depicting early-day San Diego County historical events in near-fictional style.
- (2) The world's largest National Horse Show, an 11-day event that begins June 25, a day before Fair gates open.
- (3) The world's largest outdoor flower show.
- (4) The Fair's largest and finest art show.
- (5) Ten days of top-flight entertainment.
- (6) A dramatic display and presentation of our air defense against simulated enemy attack.
- (7) Continuous activity and entertainment on the Fair's six other stages.

The giant, dramatic Junior Auction is scheduled again this year, the afternoon and evening of July 3, with hundreds of prize steers and lambs on the auction block, and just as many youthful farmers and farmerettes bidding tearful goodbyes to their animals.

Among special days at the County Fair will be Kids' Day on June 26, Senior Citizen's Day on June 29, Students' Day on July 1, News Media Day on July 5, and Junior Fair Day on July 3.

All this is superimposed upon the normal County Fair Features, each just a little larger this year, among them, photo show, home economics, international exhibits, hobby show, stamp and coin displays, agricultural exhibits of livestock, pigeons, poultry and rabbits, and an impressive gem and mineral show.

Yes, the 10 days from June 26 through July 5 will be the liveliest of the year.

gate this year from Mt. Empire High School. What is Girls State? I'll do my best to explain. One girl from each high school in the state is chosen to attend and usually the school pays her way. The girl is chosen on her scholastic as well as citizenship grades, and her leadership in extra-curricular activities. Sherry attended a Girls State tea, held in San Diego with her parents and counselor, Mr. Declair. The tea was held to inform the girls as to their duties and activities at the State for the delegates of the San Diego area. The delegates will form a legislature similar to our own states. Sherry feels greatly honored by being chosen the delegate from Mt. Empire.

PINE VALLEY

By LADONNA MUHLHAUSER
On Sunday, June 28, at 10 a.m., the Pine Valley Mutual Water Company will hold their annual meeting. At this time the stockholders will be informed of the past year's activities, future plans and election of officers.

Carol Preston is one of the busiest young ladies in Pine Valley. During the winter she was Den Mother for the Scouts. Now that school is out, the boys have adjourned for the summer, but Carol now has charge of the girls. She has 16 youngsters from Laguna, and Pine Valley. Last Monday all of them participated in a cookout and day of fun at Mt. Laguna.

R. T. Hadley, captain of the fire department for the past two years, has tendered his resignation as he is unable to be active at this time. R. T. will be badly missed as he has been one of the most faithful members.

Visiting the County Park rangers this week, I found they have been filled to capacity the past weekend. It seems the Army makes the park a noon rest stop when they transport men over Highway 80. On Saturday, June 24, Greyhound busses pulled in with 1120 men aboard. The Ranger praised the men highly for their cleanliness—to quote, "couldn't even find a gum wrapper." On Sunday, the Lions Club and 20-30 Club of Calexico were guests at the Park. Over 4,000 people passed through the park that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thornburg and family of Holtville spent Father's Day with her parents, Carl and Bertha Rogers.

The Republican Women's Club's seminar and barbecue on Saturday was well attended. Mrs. Mary Kerns introduced Jack Schrade, Hale Ashcraft and many more speakers to the gathering, and after short speeches, the candidates answered questions from the audience.

Stopped into the Guatay Truck stop for some of Lynn's delicious homemade pie and met Mr. and Mrs. Noel Loomis and their fine family, Mr. and Mrs. Lilzenberg of Denver, and their three children. Also proud great-grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green.

The Guatay folks are most happy to welcome back Jack Jones and his family. Jack has returned from Willcox, Ariz., to operate the Union Station. Everyone will miss Billie, Buddy, Gary and Corky Hill since they have moved into town. Jack left the mountains seven years ago to join the El Cajon police. After four years as a policeman, he moved to Arizona to help his father, Tex, in his business.

The Cliff O'Murr was the scene for a family reunion on Sunday. Raphael and Helen Sharp, with their seven children, drove down from Manhattan Beach with Harry and Edith Snyder, and two children, for Father's Day. Also present were K. K. Sharp and Mrs. Jo Sharp. After a buffet luncheon, all 17 adjourned to the Sharp Estate for a swim and visiting.

On Tuesday a fire broke out on Highway 79, near the John King home. At one time six tankers, one plane and many foresters were on hand to fight the fire. It was suspected that some small boy started the fire by playing with matches. The fire on Corte Madera on Saturday could have been disastrous except for two important issues. A limb was trimmed and fell on a high power line which cut out Los Pinos. One of the guests had the only phone in his car and called in the alarm. Ed Orbom happened to be present and had the only shovel available and was able to slow down the fire until the Forestry arrived.

Looked in the window of the store next to the post office this morning and saw 20 washers and four dryers so know the long-awaited Laundromat will soon be a reality.

Sue Hanafee is back to work after a two-week layoff due to a sprained ankle.
