ALPINE'S CAR DEMOLISHED

Sliding off Highway 80 below town, De Franz Copeland demolished his car and with his wife Althea, were taken by Martin Ambulance to Grossmont Hospital where they were treated. CHP Officer Geo. Dowdy handled the wreck. The Copelands were going to work in S.D., are now out of the hospital.

MORE RAIN WELCOMED HERE

At presstime the Sun's rain gauge showed another inch had fallen on this area between Wednesday and Thursday morning, a very happy event. See back page for weather report. Rainfall is higher now than at this time in 1956.

ZONING HERE IS IN OFFING

At the Tuesday session in the Log Cabin Cafe the Alpine Better Business Association discussed proposed planning for Alpine, with Bud Archer, new president for six months, in the chair. They will hold a public meeting with heads of civic organizations to further discuss the plan for this area.

Dr. Willis H. Miller, county planning director, told the Sun at presstime that he would be happy to come up here to go into this important matter. 'We are always pleased when people want to help themselves grow and improve their areas' he said.

Note- The Sun has advocated a

Editorial...

LET'S RAISE SOME HELL!

After nearly 45 years as a reporter, editor, writer, publicist, traveler and lecturer, and today enjoying the task of publishing this tiny newspaper, I've just about come to the conclusion that the American people need some sort of a blast to awaken them!

I'll go along with Utah's governor who refused to pay his income tax because so much was being sent abroad--given away--to nations that didn't like us and that squander our hard-earned cash.

This is brought forcibly to mind by the pitiful state of our school system here in Alpine and throughout the west. We need more classrooms to take our children-- we have three-- off of the damnably discommoding and inefficient double sessions.

Federal money just gave us a paltry two rooms that cost nearly $25,000. Alpine urgently needs at least five more to end this nightmare in education.

Nightmare is right, for parents must arise at 5:30 to 6:30 and get their young ones dressed, fed and out to meet the bus, at some points when the dawn is still breaking. Ours leave at 7:30. Before stores & offices are open, these growing children must be out in traffic.

Perhaps if a few more red blooded, unafraid Americans stood up and raised some hell we might stop this pillage of our tax money and give us some schools, roads, water and-- lighter taxes, by Gad!--CI.

PETERSONS HAPPY AGAIN

Home from Grossmont Hospital is Mrs. Georgie Peterson, wife of the Alpine Feeds owner, after a small operation, and is now back to work and feeling fine, she reports.

They say business here is increasing here every week and they have high hopes for the future in the area.

FAMILY REUNION AT TAVERN

Although the genial old Alpine Tavern went up in smoke and nothing remains but the cluster of cottages and their quiet tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schaaf, who now own the grounds, held forth with yuletide cheer and a good old family reunion.

It was doubly joyous as Schaaf had just returned from a critical operation in Naval Hospital-- he's a retired Marine-- and Mrs. Schaaf's two sisters and their mother were present. Also Gayle, their lovely young daughter and son Jay. The mother, Mrs. Clarence Bagger, has lived 30 years in S.D. This holiday is the first reunion with the three daughters in over 20 years.

From Houston, Tex., came Mrs. M. T. Halbouty, and daughter Linda Fay, 7, by car. She went on north to La Canada to visit with the other sister Mrs. A. C. Shreve. Mrs. Halbouty is the wife of the nation's famed geologist oilman who co-authored the book 'Spindletop', has made millions on his unerring quest in salt dome oil exploration, and some daring drilling on his own. He has just bought a new 7-place airplane for flying around his extensive Texas operations.

GAMMAS PIN NEW MEMBERS

A delightful dinner dance was enjoyed at the Admiral Kidd Club by members and friends of the sorority Saturday at their annual jewel pin ceremony.

The Alpine girls sponsored a sister chapter in El Cajon, Epsilon Gamma, and these girls plus Alpine members were pinned.

The beautiful candlelight ceremony conducted by Katherine Green, president El Cudoeste Regional Council, and assisted by Gamma Gamma president Irene Cady.

Benny Weisiger is home from his term with the air force, having been in the hospital most of the time suffering from injuries he received when he fell down a well here several years ago.

Helping Agnes McGuffie over the holiday rush was her daughter, Mrs. Jeanette Knapp of S.D. Verna McGuffie who had spent the fall here in the store, has returned home to San Diego.

SMALL TALK

BY CYNTHIA IRVINE

My twin sisters, Cecile and Celeste have to stay home from school because they have the measles.

Linda Dowdy was riding on her donkey by the chicken coop when their chickens used to be and her donkey was running and she fell off and cut her head open last Friday. Because her jeans were slick and the donkey was sweaty. She had the stitches taken out and now just a bandaid covers the cut.

Judy and Steve Wilcox are back in school after they had the measles and so are a lot of other kids. While they were home they were visited by Joann Algie's mother and dad who drove down from Canada to see them. They used to live here.

Sherry Clements and her family are back from Texas but the Frey's are still there and won't be back for two more weeks.

Barry and Betsy McCall have left Alpine school to attend their own ranch school at home.

Heidi Crosby is going to get a horse of her own this summer. She was going to get it for Christmas but decided to wait.

Patti VanLou is back in the morning session and likes it better.

Diana Isenhower and her grandparents drove up to see the Rose Parade Jan. 1. She liked it.

P.S. I have the measles and had to stay home this week to.

JESS P. HURD

Jess P. Hurd, native of Waterfort, Mich., who would have been 79 on Feb. 17, passed away last month at his home here. He had lived in Alpine for 15 years.

Survivors, besides his widow Alta, are a son William in Sandusky, O., and a sister, Sara Simmons, Maywood, Ill. He retired from the Grand Trunk R.R. in Mich. He was the father of the late Mrs. Fred Andersen who died four years ago.

Mrs. Jay Schuster, specialist in remedial reading, of Alpine School's fourth grade, resigned on Jan. 2, to accept private school employment in S.D., reports Supt. David Everett. She was replaced by Mrs. Roselle Dice, Alpine, who has taught for many years in Arizona, is a specialist in remedial work.

Everett also revealed that the increasing number of first graders had made it impossible to continue with only two first grade teachers and that even combination 1-2 grades were exceeding state maximum limits. He stated that Mrs. Gladys Lambros of San Diego has been employed as the new first grade teacher. She has an MA degree from Northwestern U and has taught primary grades both in the midwest and in California for several years.

SPARE TREES ON TAVERN ROAD

A brief delay in the long-awaited improvement of Tavern Road between Arnold and So. Grade, is being made in order to resurvey the south end so as to save some 90 stately eucalyptus trees on the west side. This report came to the Sun yesterday from J.F. Mulgrew, assistant county surveyor.

Plans are now 70% completed and the survey was finished yesterday on the tree change. As soon as the rights-of-way are brought in by those at work on them, the green-light will be given for actual construction.

NEW DUMP FOR ALPINE

The county has signed a contract for five years on a new refuse area for Alpine, reports P.W. Parks, chief of construction and repair. It is with Jas. P. Gavin, ¼ mile off Highway 80 near the top of the big grade on the road to the former dump but ¼ mile closer. Gavin will be in charge full time, making his home nearby. Rental is $75. monthly. The former land was leased at $50. but was sold for installing a chicken ranch. The new one will be open in 10 days, delay was by the rain which stopped roadbuilding.

KIWANIS BUSY LAST NIGHT

Alpine Kiwanis Club held its regular dinner at Fuller Hall last night with its new president, Don Mueller, in the chair. As a program, each committee chairman read a section of his duties. A fishing trip is being planned by Waltonians of the group. A new member, Don Deskins, was welcomed. He is founder of the Alpine Ham Radio Club.

A story is told about a thrifty Scotchman who conceived the idea of planting Bermuda onions with Irish potatoes, so that the onions would make the potato's eyes water and thus avoid the cost of irrigation.

BACKUS PARENTS ARRIVE

Mrs. Ruth Backus, widow of Wm. Backus who was killed in a car mishap last month on Alvarado Freeway, is back at their home Lilac Lane, with Mrs. Poland Backus, mother of the boy. Her husband will be out shortly from the family home in Lansing where funeral was held. Ruth's son Jimmie is with them. Pending settlement of the estate, and home sold, they will live here, returning to Lansing later.

S.D. HATS OFF TO ALPINE

Since that big 60-page Christmas issue 'hit the streets', the Sun's 2x4 office has received phone calls and letters about the job. Folks don't realize the work entailed, nor the hardship in printing such a book, but let an expert tell us! This heart-warming one was received from F.M. Raymond, advertising and public relations manager for the S.D. Gas & Electric Co.; regular advertisers in the Sun:

Dear Clarke: Please accept my congratulations on the Holiday Issue of the Alpine Sun. It not only is the smallest newspaper in the world, but also the most glamorous. I doubt if anyone but a printer (I was one 30 years ago) could appreciate the actual hard work that goes into layout, make-up, and composition for an ordinary black and white issue but the extra work of a 2-color job painstaking color separation and all-- is doubly hard. I certainly believe you when you say you burned the 'midnight oil' on several occasions during its production. I'm sure the people of Alpine have voted you their unanimous 'thanks' for a job well done.

It is a well-composed, cheerful message from one of the major beauty spots of the area and where most of the residents 'Live Better Electrically'.

NO DEAL ON YOUTH CENTER

At the annual election of Alpine Youth Center Monday night it was forcibly brought out unanimously by directors that they did not propose to give over the property and buildings for a county park.

Pres. Phil Hall presided, turning over his gavel to Jack Blankenship. New vice-president is Don Deskins; secretary, Mrs. Carl Allen; corresponding secretary, La Verne Chynoweth and treasurer, Don Cost. One new director reported, Rev. Paul Yancy, from the Baptist Church. Two directors are named from each civic organization, which makes up the directorate of the Y.C.

E.C. GETS BANK OF AMERICA
The largest bank in the world, the Bank of America, opened its new E.C. branch on Dec. 28 at 143 Prescott, just south of the Valley Health Foods, and only a block from E. Main. Manager Arthur R. Wold says the building is 40 x 80 with its own blacktop parking lot. They provide all facilities except safe deposit boxes. It is linked with 600 other California branches. The facility is new and modern with faster service, Wold claims.

SCHOOL MONEY IS STYMIED

Several hot issues were discussed at the school board meeting Tuesday night, but no action was taken. It was a busy session with no audience.

Chief subject was expansion, and lack of money for new classrooms to keep pace with the spiraling enrollment. Supt. David B. Everett told the Sun yesterday that 'unless we have a small bond issue for two or three new classrooms, next year kindergarten thru fifth grade will be forced onto double sessions'.

He added that the federal man had just reported to him that Alpine is low on the priority list for government aid in building. A bond issue was discussed but no action taken. Consensus was that there is a question of the issue's success, if offered voters.

Several alternatives were aired: abandonment of the kindergarten next year to allow use for first grade; partitioning the auditorium to make two rooms. No action was taken.

FIXIT SHOP GETS PHONE

Frank 'Lucky' Gabel, who started the Alpine Fixit Shop, 1945 Hiway 80, just east of Rorie's station, has been fortunate to get a phone in. Hickory 5-3622. His night phone is Hickory 5-2058. He reports that a fixit shop seems to be much needed here as already calls have been coming in from his ad in the Christmas Sun.

CHURCH ELECTS FRIDAY NEXT

The annual business meeting and election of community church will be on Friday next following a pot-luck dinner in Fuller Hall. The Guild will fix the meat dish and diners are asked to bring the rest and table service.

539 BACK TO SCHOOL NOW

On Tuesday Alpine school reported that enrollment stood at 539, slightly lower than at year's end, but steady increase is expected.

The two 7th and two 8th grades were moved over the holidays to the old school, Tavern Road, reports David Everett, School superintendent.

They are in four rooms and on regular session. The junior high has been departmentalized with Wade as acting principal, Dorothy Frenzel, social studies, Mrs. Wright, math, and Ed Hike, science and physical ed. No changes were made in the two 5th and two 6th grades, which remain on full day session at the new school.

The eight primary grades were moved from the old to the new structure, where it now makes up the complete elementary school with grades 1 thru 6.

'This separation is better socially and also for educational reasons' says Everett, who is devoting a lot of extra time to this work.

NEW ORGAN GIVEN CHURCH

As quite a surprise came a fine new Baldwin electric organ to Community Church at Christmas time, a present from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trepte, jr. The pastor, Dr. Roger Larson and congregation are thrilled over the donation, a great improvement to the Sunday services.

The old organ has been loaned to the Youth Chapel of the Kensington Congregational Church, in S.D., to be used by its youth director, Miss Gail Wilson, who in 1950 all on her own, raised the money for its purchase.

Jerry Harmer and wife Ruth, daughter of Mrs. Florence Clarke, with their son Mike, have returned North after spending a fortnight here, all helping in the holiday rush at Florence's Market.

BILGES IN YOUR TOILET?

One of the first things to do in saving water, says the new S. D. Don't Waste Water committee, is to place one or two bricks in the toilet tank which will save that displacement of water. dozens of suggestions are offered to everyone to help save: Serve none at cafes unless requested, a waterless day for no car washes or sprinkling, etc.

Note: With our water table lowering each month, it behooves everyone to save as much as possible. You may deepen your well at a high cost, but every foot more that you must pump increases your electric bill. Save water!

MORGAN DIES AT 94

Earl Morgan who owns the triangle at So. Grade Road and Highway 80 is here for a few days working on the place, reports that his father, Chas. Henry Morgan, 94, passed away in Long Beach. He had lived here when the son was building his place. Morgan is accompanied by Bud Harbarger, former property man with Katherine MacDonald Pictures in Hollywood, where Morgan also worked in comedies with Mack Sennett.

Many people have thought up a whole lot of excellent ideas as to what other people should do.
