MUSIC ART DISPLAY AT LIBRARY

This month's exhibit is unusual and of profound interest to Americans, chiefly music-lovers, for Mrs. Lenore Oakleigh Lusk, noted teacher of piano, organ and voice, has delved deeply into her extensive collection of American memorabilia, mainly of the 19th century.

The interesting display has everything—busts of famed composers, songs from her collection of over 1000, including first editions and beautifully etched songs of old, which they hold in photo. Even the mechanics of a piano are shown, with numerous photos of famous artists.

Every music lover and student should spend an hour inspecting this lovely display, one of the many Librarian Elizabeth West is presenting.

BLACKOUT NO PARKING SIGNS!

Due to pressure by business men here the county has black-taped those recently placed "No parking at any time" signs that were placed a couple of weeks ago which stired up a whirlwind of protest.

Now there are people who think the idea is good and are putting out a petition to keep the signs up due to the dangers of drivers getting wacked as they try to come out onto Hwy 80 from South Marshall.

"This collection was passed on to me by my mother, Mabelle J. Oakleigh, whose love of music is the 'greater art of living', which I have inherited, and which I am endeavoring to pass on" declares Mrs. Lusk.

As she explains "Today's music is the outgrowth of many factors in the American life: music of the Indian, the Negro, the pioneer and his folksongs from the mountains, forests and plains, many legends which encrusted events and places, and the composite folklore of the peoples who were being transformed by the 'melting pot'".

It is surprising to note that "musical development here skyrocketed between the Revolution and the Civil War", she adds, "for in 1829, 2500 pianos were made, valued at $750,000. But in 1850 the annual out put had risen to $2.6 million".

Space prevents running the entire absorbing explanation the ardent musician has given Mrs. West to hang with the display, which every student should inspect.

SCOUTING DETERS CRIME, MAKES BETTER MEN.

This month Boy Scouts of America are promoting Sustaining Membership Enrollment and the SD County Council is working hard to promote it.

One former Scout who believes Scouting must find a means to utilize boys who frequently drop out of the work in their middle and late teens is Sheriff J.C. O'Connor.

He has been in law enforcement for 30 years, was a First Class Scout at Renton, Washington. At the age when he might have been an Explorer he entered forestry, where he said his work was aided extensively by his Scout training.

O'Connor's three sons went through Scouting in El Cajon. Two became Explorers, one was a committeeman and one, Mike O'Connor, who now is a sheriff's deputy, was a Cubmaster.

"When a boy is 16 or 17 or 18 his exposure to crime is increased greatly, O'Connor said in an interview. "If that boy were still in Scouting, he would pay much less attention to the possibilities of crime.

"Even so, a boy who has been a Scout for a couple of years seldom later gets into trouble by the law. But that percentage could be reduced even more if boys could be induced to remain in Scouting longer, at least through their college years. The Explorer program does not reach far enough.

Alpine has some fine men working on Scouting, and it has some splendid youngsters devoted to this great movement. The community should be very proud, but more should be done to get and keep lads in the work.

As the sheriff says "After a boy gets to be around 15 he has fewer opportunities to participate in the functions that were so important to him earlier.

"What percentage of youth league baseball players made the team in high school? A small number. How many high school players make their college team? Very few. They get into other activities. Many of them get into crime."

He adds that few of the 750 men and women in county jail today had ever been in a good program such as Scouting and we have found that a person's initial contact with narcotics, for instance, is when he is 13 or 14-- a time when a boy should be entering the Explorer program. If he were an Explorer, chances are slim he ever would consider even testing a marijuana cigarette". This is why all should boost Scouting. CI

TALK OF PUBLIC SWIMMING POOL?

Alex Doig who represents the firm putting in the new Alpine Village Mobilhome Estates opposite Alpine Motel, says they have toyed with the idea of building a large, all-year swimming pool, sauna baths and other facilities on some of the commercial frontage of their property, old Dinosaur Park".

"We read in the Sun that Alpine needed more recreational facilities, mainly a public pool", Doig says, "so we would like to have a poll, or at least hear from folks who would like to see this".

Drop a card to Christopher D. Sickles & Associates, 6505 Alvarado Rd., SD. 92115, if you have any ideas along this line.

Note- The Sun believes that, as the SD planning office said when they Zoned Alpine, that it will eventually become a great recreational area, which would indicate the need for such facilities as a pool, sauna, bowling, games and so on. -Ed. When Dinosaur Park was operating they had campers and visitors from as far as Santa Barbara. It can be repeated. -Ed.

HORSE TALK

By Cynthia Irvine McTaggart.

When a horse breaks a leg the usual procedure is to put the animal to sleep as soon as possible but when it happens to a 3-weeks old colt, the vets at least try to repair the damage. Last Thursday Doris Scully went out to see her little buckskin colt Pokey and found him on the ground with his right front leg broken. She called Dr. Dietrick who set the leg and then put both in a cast. This was done to support the good one and also to prevent the little fellow from being too frisky. Doris thinks he was stepped on by either his mother or one of the other horses while he was taking a nap because the bone was broken between the hoof and knee.

They took him back Wednesday for more xrays and have the cast changed and to see how he was coming. If he continues to mend will be as good as new in a few months, but it has been a trying time for the Scullys as he has worked his way into their hearts.

Alpine riding club is having a breakfast ride March 3 for all Alpiners with a horse who wish to participate. This is a get-acquainted offer for all who have not attended or didn't have a horse, but are truly interested in the activities of the club, plus members. This is free and the ride will take place after breakfast so those that live a good distance away, can return home if they like instead of taking the trail ride.

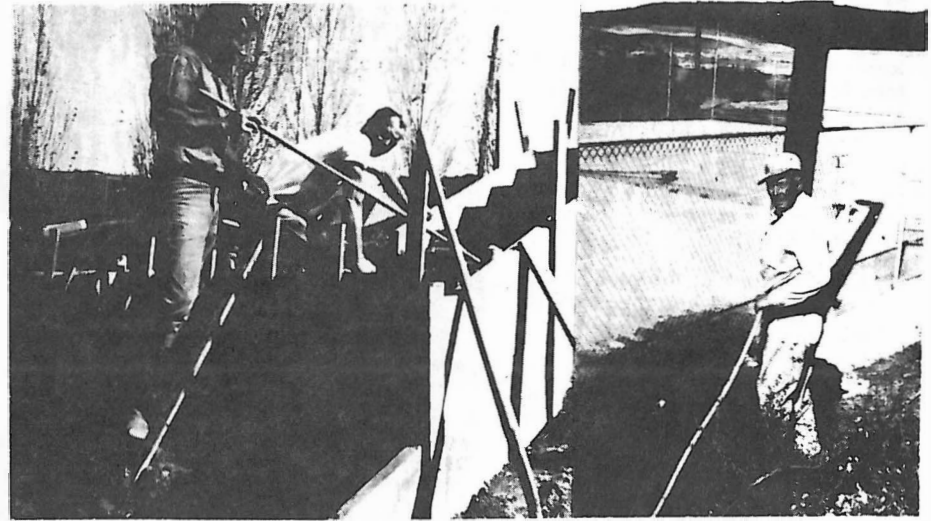

Maurene Carrell is putting the little pony owned by Nita Finch through his paces. Nita saved up her money and bought the little guy but he hadn't had much training and so she didn't ride him but will when Mrs. Carrell gets through. She is a beautiful little thing with brown and white markings and is only 3 years old so will make her a real nice mount.

On Feb. 27, a series of horse pictures will be shown at the Youth Center starting at 7:30 and again this is open to all interested but is sponsored by the Alpine Riding Club.

Skip Beau, Melva and Ron Riley's prize stud, won 2½ points at a show in Norco last weekend and collected 2½ the week before so is on the way to more championships this year. Melva has a colt and a filly by him and she says they look just like him.

Anyone interested in taking riding lessons on Sunday may contact Mary Reed, 445-2257. She will register you and answer any questions you may have.

And then there was the guy who complained bitterly about his wife's immaturity. Seems that every time he was in the bath tub, she'd come in and sink all his sail boats.

Jerry and Dick Peterson built cement steps last week going from the YC to the tennis court, making it nice and easy to commute. Arnold, a native of EC where he now resides, who lived 18 years in Descanso, is enthused over the plan, believes that Alpine, "when the freeway is opened, will mean a great increase in homes and ranches hereabouts."

A subcontractor is now clearing the underbrush, trimming trees and getting the beautiful wooded area in shape for that section of the park.

"We expect that most of the tenants will be older persons whose children have gone out into the world", says Doig, "and they desire to live in a fine mobilhome. HOW ABOUT MY SOCIAL SECURITY?

As Alpine has many retirees and oldersters, the Sun presents this question and answer column about the program as a public service. The questions are those most frequently asked about Social Security. Answers are provided by Sumio Oto, EC district manager.

Q. Can I make application by mail for my increase in benefits under the new change in the law?

A. If you are receiving monthly SS benefits, the amount you get will be increased by at least 13%, beginning early in March. The increase is being made automatically to all beneficiaries, so there is no need to make application.

Q. My husband and I are both under 72. He receives $35. a month, and I get $17. 50. Will we get any increase?

A. Yes. Your husband's will be $40, and yours $20. It will be automatic and be shown on checks received in March.

Q. I understand that, beginning this year, I can earn as much as $1680 and still get all of my benefits. I receive rental income from a home I own. Is this included in the $1680 allowed?

A. No. The $1680 on earnings applies only to income from employment or self-employment. Money from rentals, interest, stocks, etc., does not affect your benefits unless you are in the real estate or stock brokerage business.

If you have further questions, write or contact the district office, 1075 E. Main in EC, from 8:30 am until 4:30 pm Monday - Friday and until 7:30 pm on Wednesdays. The phone is 442-0851.

Unbelievable was the sight of this smashed pickup in which Brooks lost his life last week. Alpine fireman Frank Scully had a hard time prying the body from the compressed cab. Impact tore bed from frame, seen in photo in back of chassis. Heavy frame was bent into serpentine.

This dismally illustrates how badly a 3-lane highway has been needed here for many years. Trying to pass in a 2-lane road is very hazardous.

JAMES BROOKS

Funeral was Sunday in El Cajon Methodist Church for Jas. A. Brooks, 28, who was killed when his pickup colled with a paper truck here Wednesday last week. The Rev. Edgar B. Smith of Jacumba officiated. Burial was in El Cajon Cemetery.

Brooks, a construction worker on the freeway, lived in Jacumba with his wife, Lupe, and daughters April Dawn, 2, and Quena Leah, 5 months. Other survivors; father, mother, brother and 2 sisters out of state. He was an Army veteran, 1962-65, and a native of Alabama.

CARE OF THE BODY

By Alice Irvine

GUM TROUBLE OVERCOME BY DIET

So common are gum disorders it is believed that practically everyone develops them at some time or other. That you have so far escaped the malady is no guarantee for the future.

The normal gum is a pale pink, does not bleed or hurt, and grips the tooth closely. Sick gums have a very different appearance, often dark red, showing an excessive congestion of blood; or they are grayish around the edges. Often they are soft and spongy, painful, bleed easily; and recede from the teeth.

Gum disorders usually are accompanied by unpleasant breath. Another more serious result may be the eventual loss of teeth. Unhealthy gum tissue may even affect other parts of the body.

The most common disorder is pyorrhea, when deep pus pockets may form. In addition there is an absorption of the bony structure supporting the teeth. Such recession of the bone is easily found with the X-ray.

One of the important causes of gum trouble is poor diet. In many cases it seems that a faulty diet will affect the gums more quickly than other parts of the body. Lack of vitamin C is an important contributing cause of gum trouble.

Dentists have done considerable work in studying the relationship between diet and gum diseases and find that the foods which are most useful both in preventing and overcoming gum disorders are: orange juice, lemon juice, green leafy vegetables, milk, eggs and fresh whole fruits. Adopting a dietetic regimen is also necessary as your dentist gives you local treatment while the gums are being cleared up and returned to normal.
