

Chamber Sponsors Contest

ALPINE — Beginning today, the Alpine Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a contest. One hundred dollars in prizes will be given to the lucky winners.

At a meeting held August 27, the committee which was appointed to promote and beautify Alpine, agreed that all residents of this area should have a part in the planning and improvement of this community.

A contest has been established for suggestions and ideas on how Alpine can be improved and presented to everyone as an outstanding and beautiful place to live.

All ideas sent to the Chamber of Commerce will be considered and everyone is urged to enter the contest, as serious thought will be given to each suggestion.

The contest is open to all people of the Alpine area, who are property owners, or who live or work in Alpine.

The contest consists of three categories for the final judging:

- 1 — Youth from one to 18.
- 2 — Eighteen to 55.
- 3 — Fifty five and up.

All ideas are welcomed, such as road improvement, painting, brush clearing and many other projects that you might think of.

Each member of the committee and each member of the Chamber of Commerce, feels that Alpine has tremendous potential. The natural beauty is here in abundance, and we as citizens can do our part to improve it by entering wholeheartedly into the spirit of this contest so that we may all be able to "point with pride" to our beautiful community.

Rules of the contest are simple. Just write your idea and enclose it in a plain envelope and hand it to one of our local merchants or mail it to the Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 333.

A prize of $25 will be given to each winner in the three categories. The winning suggestions will then be eligible for a final judgment for the grand prize of $25 which will be awarded for the best over-all suggestion. The grand prize winner will win $50 for their participation.

This is your community — this is your contest.

Musicians Are Invited

GROSSMONT COLLEGE — An invitation to Grossmont College community musicians to participate in the Grossmont College-Community Orchestra, now starting its second year, has been issued by director Dr. Robert Emile.

The orchestra meets on Wednesday nights at 7:30 in the college music building. Last year the orchestra attracted 35 players and gave two public performances of classical music. Increased activity is planned during the coming year, Dr. Emile said.

String and double wind players are particularly needed, the director said. Players may register for the activity with or without credit. The first meeting of the fall semester will be held Wednesday, Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the music building.

Motorcycle Races

Fate Set for Friday

ALPINE — Members of this community will take their desires concerning the motorcycle race track before the County Planning Commission on Friday, Sept. 10 at 10:30 a.m.

Those favoring the races will ask that a variance in zoning be granted so that the already expanded track may be kept in operation.

The group that is opposing will ask that the variance be denied on the grounds that the races are a detriment to the community rather than an asset.

The hearing will give all who wish to express themselves an opportunity to state their views on the matter.

If the variance is refused, the group who is backing the motorcycle races, may then appeal to the County Board of Supervisors.

New Ordinance Adopted

SAN DIEGO — The County Board of Supervisors Tuesday adopted an ordinance aimed at prohibiting the accumulation of junk in yards of homes in unincorporated areas.

The reason for the ordinance is to eliminate unsightly piles of junk, fire hazards and areas where rats and insects can breed.

Junk items included in the measure would be glass, cans, bottles, rags, bedding, lawn trimmings, shrubbery cuttings, lumber, plumbing fixtures, metal, bricks, building stones, plaster, tires, inner tubes, car and boat parts, old household appliances and defective machinery.

No junk will be allowed closer to four feet to a wooden fence. In the case of a metal or chain link fence, the no-junk zone would narrow to two feet unless the fence was used to support a building.

No junk could be put in the front yard or stored any closer than 15 feet to the back fence or 10 feet from the side of the lot.

Junk will be allowed in other parts of the rear yard if:

- It is contained.
- It is covered by canvas.
- It is screened from public view by a wall two feet higher than the top of the pile. The pile also has to be neat.

The building inspector department will be the enforcement agency. A complaint will have to be made and a notice will be given to the offender. He will be given 10 days to bring his property into conformity. He can then appear before the Board of Supervisors to appeal his case.

If the supervisors upheld the building department, the violator would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

The maximum penalty for a misdemeanor is $1,000 plus one year in jail.

The new ordinance goes into effect in 90 days.

Van Deerlin Supports Bill

WASHINGTON — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin (D-S.D.) has announced his support of the Government Employees Salary Comparability Act (H.R. 10281), which among other provisions raises postal service salaries four and one-half per cent effective in October.

Hearings on the measure have been completed in the House and the bill is now in the Rules Committee. Under the 21-day rule, it must be acted upon by Sept. 13.

H.R. 10281, Van Deerlin said, "achieves a major breakthrough in bringing the overtime and holiday pay provisions for federal employees closer to provisions of the kind widely accepted in modern, progressive private enterprise. The postal field service, in particular, has labored under an archaic and inequitable restrictions in the field of overtime work and overtime pay."

'SHADY ROCK' OPERATOR WINS CONTINUANCE

SAN DIEGO — Donald Collard of Alpine last week was granted a continuance until Sept. 30 for preliminary hearing on a felony charge of conspiring to make pornographic pictures.

Two veteran sheriff's deputies were arrested along with Collard and a La Mesa man on the pornography charges.

According to authorities, about a dozen of the allegedly lewd films were seized at the time of Collard's arrest at his home.

Collard pleaded innocent to charges of planting, cultivating and possessing marijuana in the El Cajon Municipal Court on Tuesday. He was bound over to superior court for arraignment at 9 a.m. Sept. 22 on the charge.

Collard operates Shady Rock Park in Alpine.

Dear Sir,

I am willing to be counted but prefer the secret ballot so would rather not sign my name. Just call me coward!

First of all let me say I like races of all kinds; but everything should have its proper place. The cow's in the barn — not the house.

Those who wish to see races should be able to see them — by the same token those who wish to live in peace and quiet should be able to do so.

Alpine has established itself as this kind of place.

I have traveled extensively and have never found a more ideal place to live. Why spoil it? No matter how small a race track or airfield start out they eventually become public nuisances and nightmares to those who live near them making the area a very undesirable place.

Is it possible a number of well-meaning residents are taking a myopic view of this question? Every piece of property in this entire area shall suffer a loss in value if this thing is allowed to go on. Do we have enough wisdom and foresight to stop this before it gets out of hand?

To paraphrase the Chamber of Commerce's brochure about Alpine's being a very desirable place to live, in the future it may well read something like this: "Come to dirty Alpine a noisy place to live. We have a motorcycle track just ten blocks from the center of town. Enjoy the traffic, noise and dirty air. Plenty of black-jacketed hoodlums roaming the streets. By Government statistics the dirtiest little town in the U.S.A."

'A WHIM DAY'

Tire of routine, worry and care?
Life is a struggle; hasn't been fair?
Would you let me, just for a minute
Change your life and all that's in it?

I have a way to recommend
A whole new you to comprehend.
Take the time once a day
To put all of your routine away.

New horizons are in store,
When words like "ZEST" instead of "BORE"
Become a part of each new day,
And hearts once heavy seem lighter and gay.

Refresh oneself when problems vex
A whim a day will put the "Hex"
On old routines and irritations,
Endless problems, battling Nations.

Editorial

Recent days have brought comments concerning the differences of opinion in Alpine. Some feel that because people differ, the town will be split into separate factions, that there will be hurt feelings, and Alpine will suffer because people differ.

We feel that nothing can be farther from the truth. First of all, does Alpine have some sort of monopoly on differences of opinion? Most of us have lived at one time or another, in some other town or area. Was this place always peaceful? Did everyone always agree on everything?

Can we not as a community, grow up enough to accept the fact that we will not always agree with our neighbor — nor would that really be desirable. It is the very difference between people that make this world an interesting world. Isn't it communism that would take away our individual lives and regiment us? Could we then think and act and say and do the thing that we believe sincerely is the right thing?

If these things be true, then let's not always be afraid of honest controversy in our community. It is this very controversy and interest that will someday make our town what we want it to be.

OPEN HOUSE

ROOFS MAY COME and roofs may go, and our most certainly does! We have experimented with at least four different styles since we moved into our still partly-finished home. We started out of course, with the leaky original, made out of second-hand roofing paper (Robert says there is no such thing as second-hand roofing paper, but you should have seen this stuff!) covered with tasteful amounts of gravel, through which the rains came, with enthusiasm. After patching and patching we gave up and decided to start all over, with cedar shingles. This, we felt, was a fine idea; cedar shingles are attractive and we had covered at least three-fourths of the roof, when the price of cedar shingles went up about fifty dollars a hundred and Robert said he was tired of them, anyway. So he asked me how I would like a thatched roof. I thought of Anne Hathaway and old English cottages, and Shakespeare and I was overcome with nostalgia. So I said I thought a thatched roof would be just too, too picturesque, until I found out a thatched roof is just nothing but hay, and this simply doesn't seem practical.

WHILE WE WERE still considering various possibilities for the roof, Robert became enamored of gables. He was convinced the plain lines of our box-like little structure would be improved immensely by the addition of a few decorative gables. First we put one over the front door and it looked so decorative that it was decided to place one over the bedroom in back and the bathroom as well. And now there is going to be another one over the bay window in the kitchen. This is the project in which Robert and his right-hand man, Cherry, are currently engaged. In a burst of enthusiasm, they ripped off a quantity of the roof in order to install fresh lumber and it got dark before they could complete the job. During the night we had a very heavy fog; we couldn't even see across the canyon when we looked out in the morning. And meanwhile, back in the kitchen — I'll bet you never tried to do dishes with a damp and dismal fog dripping down the back of your neck. I didn't either; I left them in the sink.

AND NOW WE have another roof; made this time of lovely new roofing paper over which we will install, eventually, tile or slate — we don't know which, yet. We are going to try for a definite decision before the rainy season sets in. And Robert has just come in filled with enthusiasm over the thought of another gable to enhance the balcony at the side of the house. If he keeps on he will find room for four or five more. And Nathaniel Hawthorne once wrote a whole book about a house with only seven gables. He would go out of his mind if he saw this bit of architectural insanity!

IT IS MY opinion that we are going to wind up with something more like "The House of Seventeen Gables" and then I can write a book, too!

Poetry is - A Many Splendored Thing

By MARIE KRAMER

Write a letter to a stranger,
Climb a mountain, scoff at danger;
Paint a picture, write a song,
Better still, right a wrong.

Build a birdhouse, plant a tree,
Attend that play you meant to see.
Free yourself; explore this action;
For your reward . . . pure satisfaction.

This poetic prescription I'm sending your way
Is my very own Whim for TODAY."

'I WOULD KEEP WONDER'

I would keep wonder as a child
Marveling at the earth and sky
The ceaseless march of ageless stars
The tiniest bloom that meets my eye,
Twinkling from common meadow grass
The thunder of a cararact,
Cutting a canyon, deep as thought.

Call nothing I behold dull fact
A child at heart, I would rejoice
That He who made the sky and earth
Created me, and know my worth.
That I am part of all I see
One with star, and bird and tree
One with God, Who dwells in me.

4-H Laboratory Helps Practice Democracy

"Four-H is a laboratory for learning and practicing democracy," says Bena Johnson, University of California, Home Advisor.

Members of the head, heart, hands, health program "learn" citizenship by "doing"—electing their own officers, helping to plan and conduct their meetings and programs, sharing leadership responsibilities, and making group decisions, she says.

Some two and one-half million American young people between 10 and 19 are 4-H members, including 1,200 in San Diego County. Members acquire and share skills in projects ranging from livestock, crops and electricity, to junior leadership, clothing and foods and nutrition. They supplement this learning with activities in health, safety, community service, and personal development.

In California, the University of California Agricultural Extension Service conducts the 4-H Club work with guidance from county farm and home advisors working with local leaders.

Former Star Instructs Youngsters

By EDIE VAN TIL

"When I was in grammar school, right here in San Diego, I used to get up every morning at 6:30, get my own breakfast, and then hurry to school so that I would be sure to get there when the janitor arrived. Then I could get the ball and bat and start to practice before school."

These were the words of Theodore Samuel Williams as he spoke to the Pony League players at the Naval Amphibious Base on Coronado just a week or so ago.

The boys had gathered from many cities to take part in the Pony League World Series, held in National City. And part of their program was the special appearance of Ted Williams, one of the greatest hitters of all time.

Following a special film made by Williams and distributed by Sears and Roebuck on batting, the boys sat in respectful silence as they listened to a truly dedicated baseball player, give them tips on the thing he knows best, batting.

For Ted Williams, as any baseball player or fan knows, is the last man in the major leagues to hit over the .400 mark and without question, was one of the greatest natural hitters to have ever played in the major leagues. Had his career not been interrupted by two wars, there is no telling to what heights he might have soared in the realm of baseball.

Ted was born and raised in San Diego and played his first baseball on the sandlots of that city. A star in high school, he excelled not only in batting but in pitching.

The first professional team to use Williams' talents was the San Diego Padres, and he joined them even before he finished Hoover High School.

Upon graduating from high school, baseball became his full time occupation and it was not long until he was with the Boston Red Sox and the rest of it is history.

The young men who had the recent opportunity to hear Ted tell of the perseverance that it took to become a star such as he became, will long remember his words. For Ted lived and breathed baseball from the time he could first hold a bat in his hand. He practiced long hours — hours when other boys were doing less demanding tasks. And by his very desire to become a great ball player, he did just that.

Some five years out of baseball now, Ted is as fit as if it were yesterday that he was sending the ball over fences in the American League parks.

Now a consultant on sports equipment for Sears Roebuck and Company, Ted makes his home in Florida. The parents that raised him here in San Diego are now gone as is his brother. And Ted is the last of the family. He has a very warm spot in his heart for San Diego and often wishes he could come back and make his home where he has so many wonderful friends.

Alpine was remembered by Ted as being a great place to hunt deer. As anyone who has followed his splendid career knows, Ted not only is sports minded when it comes to baseball, but is an accomplished fisherman and hunter.

Many of the young men listening to Ted Williams just a Saturday or two ago, were about the age he was, when he gave up all other activity to become one of the greatest hitters of all time. His great patience with the boys asking questions during the session, and his obvious desire to help these boys, must have made a fine impression on these fine young ball players. And who knows, perhaps sitting there in that audience was a boy who has the desire and the courage to become the great ball player and gentleman, that Ted Williams, former San Diegan was — and is!

Business Course Offered

SAN DIEGO — The San Diego State College School of Business Administration in cooperation with the U.S. Small Business Administration, San Diego, will offer a Management Seminar for owners and managers of small businesses at the San Diego College campus each Thursday evening, beginning Sept. 30, 1965 at 7 p.m. and continuing through Nov. 18.

The purpose of the seminar to be offered is for the small business owner and manager, who in his effort to operate his business in an efficient manner, faces most, if not all, of the same kinds of problems that a complete staff of executives deal with in a larger firm. He must have as a result a working knowledge of all areas of business administration. He does not, however, have the time to devote to a lengthy series of business courses.

This seminar will be a short concentrated examination of some of the most important areas, with the emphasis on problems common to small business. It will expose him to problems and current solutions in such areas as general management, human relations, accounting, cost control and taxation.

For information on this seminar contact Arthur Broadshatzer, C. P. A., D. B. A., Professor of Accounting, San Diego State College.

Know Your Newspaper Better

What Is An Editorial?

It isn't a news story! And a news report isn't an editorial. Many newspaper readers confuse the two . . . very often call a news report an editorial.

DEFINITION OF A NEWS REPORT:

A news report tells you what happened, to whom, where, when and how. It contains only the facts . . . without expression of a reporter's or editor's opinion.

DEFINITION OF AN EDITORIAL:

This is an expression of opinion by the newspaper. It does not appear in the news columns, but on the editorial page . . . a page designated as such. Remember that this editorial page is also open to expressions of opinion by our readers . . . simply write a letter to the editor.

Sure We Have Opinions

. . . about nearly every piece of news in the paper. But we don't voice those opinions in the news reports. There, we tell you only what happened . . . not whether it is right or wrong . . . or what should or should not have been done. This is the difference between news reports and editorials.

DEERHORN VALLEY

A TRIFLE BELATED, but all of us offer our sincerest sympathies to "Vince" Vincents on the passing away of his wife, Pauline ("Polly"). The Vincents moved into our community not too long ago from Jamul, purchasing the Tom Wiggins and Bill McBurney's ranch (just south of the Eaton ranch) - and the effect of Polly's work and "green thumb" were immediately apparent in the landscaping and flowers surrounding their home. Vince expressed his appreciation to all the folks in the community who contributed to the flowers. (Our thanks to Zona Hicks and Rory Wallin for their efforts on behalf of the community in gathering these contributions). . . . A further note of condolence and deepest sympathies to Bee Arntz, formerly of our community (lived on the ranch now owned by McDuff and Joe Vallee), and presently of Crest, on the passing away of her husband, Glenn. During his residence here, Glenn was active in social and civic affairs, and the American Legion. . . . In a lighter strain - a happy note of apology to Elloy "Jim" Hicks who last week was promoted to the elated status of "Civilian, First Class" - all the best of luck to you Jim, in this new chapter of your life!

VISITING IN THE community last Saturday, Tom Wiggins, looking hale, hearty and happy. Tom is still an officer with the bank out La Jolla way, and said that Bill is still back East. . . . Did you happen to notice George and Lee working with Hugh Arledge on the back shed on Hugh's "Happy Day Ranch" with Hugh's jackass tied to the fence supervising the whole project. . . . Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eaton on the birth of a new well - a good "witch" and a little luck and the well over-floweth. . . . Lots of activity on the hill last Sunday with the CAPA (Citizens Action for Poverty Areas) barbecue and horse show held at Barrett Lake Estates. Noel Confee from the Monte Robles section announced the horse show. The barbecued food was excellent and an enjoyable time was had by all. . . . The September meeting of the Civic Club will be a potluck at the YCW Camp on Friday (the 10th) at 8 p. m.

She lived with the Gustav Carlson family on a farm in the village of Stenkullen.

Her scholarship was from the American Field Service.

One of her reasons for going to Sweden was to help to further international relations. Dr. and Mrs. Crain were able to visit her last Christmas in Sweden.

Their son John is in the Philippines and was there at the time the Alpine school children phoned to the Philippines. He will be back for school when it opens.

During the big rush that "back-to-school" days bring upon us, we think you will be especially interested in our September program theme - "Dinner on the Double." We are going to demonstrate meals that can be prepared easily and quickly - and are still attractive and nourishing. All the recipes we cover in our two programs can be prepared in thirty minutes or less. Your portable appliances will be of great help to you too. Your blender, electric skillet, etc. will come in very handy in the preparation of these dishes.

We will make quick breads using refrigerator biscuits; a California Pie with ground beef and vegetables; Fruit Cocktail Parfait Pie with Vanilla Cooky Crust; Scallops Parisienne and Gazpacho - a delicious chilled vegetable soup. In addition, we will cover Tomato Kraut Cups and Baby Orange Babas, a boxed cake mix variation cooked in paper cups.

Our programs (entitled "Quick to Fix" and "Beat the Clock") will be presented September 14 and 28 from 10-11:30 a. m. in the air conditioned auditorium of SDG&E's Eastern District Office at 104 N. Johnson, El Cajon. Admission is free and we will be giving away door prizes. Be sure to mark your calendar as a reminder and join us - it's informative and entertaining.

Want to get good marks for school projects?

"I think I should get an A," one young mother mentioned recently. Her project: Helping a son with a sixth grade project in Indian lore.

Storybooks, crayons and household items all went into the effort. In a pinch, she says, you can make almost anything with crayons and paper bags or plain brown craft paper. A headdress of "feathers" can be cut out and colored. Wigwams can be made with paper and sticks. A round container of any size can be turned into a tribal drum, properly decorated.

Some schools assign a great many projects. Others may ask special work from a child only once a year. But at some point any school-goer may be asked to make a scale model of a scene, or build a special exhibit, or research a period of history and illustrate it in some way.

A number of play materials are handy in these situations.

"Children's inexpensive non-fiction books offer pictures that serve as a useful reference for school projects," reminds Dorothy Haas, an editor with Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wisconsin. There are books about rockets, about stars, about airports, about pioneers, about trees, about prehistoric monsters and more. A trip to the counter of the nearest variety store can be a short-cut for a parent who must help provide ideas and low-cost materials.

A parent soon learns to accumulate many objects from shoeboxes to popsicle sticks that may be called for.

"First I get a book," agrees a project-wise father. "My son reads it with me. We cover the dining table with oil cloth. I set out what he needs, and he goes to work. The hardest part is not joining in, but just being an advisor."

Some people get so fascinated by a chance to set up the landing of Columbus or show the life of the Pilgrims that the whole family may help. Many parents even miss their "homework" after the children graduate.

Winter-blooming annuals should . . . be set out now. It is important to give them a long, warm growing season starting in early fall so they'll form buds before the soil temperature drops. Winter stock, snapdragons, pansies, violas, Iceland poppies, calendulas and Fairy Primroses are all available in flats at your nursery.

Pick off faded flowers from . . . tuberous begonias, but leave the flower stalk on the plant; it will soon fall off of its own accord. Continue with regular watering and make another light application of a complete fertilizer.

For beautiful color . . . in the shade garden from September to the first frost, set out Japanese Anemones (sometimes called Windflowers) from gallon cans. The saucer-shaped flowers of this perennial rise on graceful stems two to four feet high, and are available in white, shades of silvery-pink or rose.

Remove . . . all except one or two flower buds at the tips of camellia branches and leave about four inches between other flower buds that from below the tip. Keep soil moist so plants don't wilt or dry out.

Oregon Grape . . . can be planted now, and if you're looking for a sensationally beautiful shrub to mass across a foundation or use as a hedge see this adaptable evergreen with the glossy, holly-like foliage. Sun or shade. Any soil.

Influenza Cases Show Rise

ALPINE — There is a possibility of a material increase in the number of influenza cases in the county this winter and susceptible persons should be immunized, Leo F. Ryan, Alpine chairman of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of San Diego County, said.

The warning stemmed from recommendations of a U. S. Public Health Service advisory committee on immunization practices.

The committee reported: "The last major epidemic of Type A illness (influenza) occurred in 1962-63 and on the West coast in 1963-64.

"In view of influenza's two to three year recurrence cycle, increased amounts of influenza may be expected in the coming season. Areas that were most involved in 1964-65 might expect a lesser amount of disease in 1965-66.

"Although Type A viruses may predominate in 1965-66, the presence of Type B influenza in the U. S. and its prevalence in Europe in 1964-65, increases the expectation of Type B outbreaks in 1965-66 in the U. S."

Immunization is generally recommended for persons with chronic cardiovascular, pulmonary, renal and metabolic disorders, persons in older age groups, pregnant women, and patients in nursing homes, Ryan said.

"Vaccination should begin as soon as practicable after September 1, and ideally should be completed by mid-December. It is important that immunization be carried out before influenza occurs in the immediate area since there is a two-week interval before the development of antibodies," Ryan said.

Enrollment Up

GROSSMONT COLLEGE — Fall semester enrollment at Grossmont College reached the impressive figure of 4,509 by noon Friday, with the assurance that this figure would rise by approximately 100 by the time the last applicant has been processed.

Dean of Admissions and Guidance Laurance Coons, said the 4,509 figure consisted of 3,209 day students and 1,300 evening students. Final figures, after program changes have been made next week, will be available Friday, Sept. 10. Classes start Monday, Sept. 13.

As of Friday noon, seven out of every 10 course sections, in the evening as well as the day, had closed out. There were 130 day sections remaining open, and 54 night sections.

Present campus facilities were built to accommodate 2,500 day students. A bond issue is scheduled Oct. 19 to complete the campus which was master planned for 4,000.

Church News

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF THE WILLOWS

"Ten Rules for Living" will be the theme of a sermon to be delivered by the Rev. William Bray on Sunday at the 10:45 Morning Worship Hour. This is the first message in a series of messages on the Ten Commandments. Rev. Bray will speak on the subject, "Abraham, a Friend of God" at the 7:30 Evening Worship Hour.

Rev. Bray will be one of 32 pastors in the San Diego American Baptist Association attending the pastor's conference at Thousand Pines in the San Bernardino Mountains, September 13-15. Over 300 pastors of the Southern California area annually attend this conference at Crestline.

On September 17th the families of members and friends will come together for their monthly church family dinner. A special program is planned and all families related to the church are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Pike Meade were received into membership and are candidates for the Ordinance of Baptism, September 12th at 4 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of El Cajon.

The BYF group has tentative plans to attend a Dodger baseball program on Saturday, Sept. 25th. Also coming up for the BYF group is Inter-Baptist Youth Day at Knott's Berry Farm where nearly 3000 youth from seven Baptist conventions gather together for a giant youth rally and fellowship day.

CREST COMMUNITY

The church wishes to thank the anonymous person who gave a check for $1,200 this past month. It was designated to be used for the bus repair, missions and for any other need. Six hundred dollars of the gift was sent to the Haitian National Workers. The bus is being repaired and will soon be in use.

Our thanks to everyone who helped us reach our goal of $600 for purchasing a Speed-O-Print Liberator 600 Electric mimeograph machine and the full cost of this year's Daily Vacation Bible School. Our attendance average 110 and we wish to thank the community for the wonderful response given to the program. An overflow crowd enjoyed the program put on for the adults a recent Friday evening.

ALPINE LUTHERAN CHURCH

The sermon for Sunday, Sept. 11, will be taken from Hebrews, the 13th chapter, Verses 14-16.

The Worship Service begins at 9:00 a. m. followed by Sunday School.

Rev. A. H. Zimmermann of Seattle, Washington, has accepted the call of the Alpine congregation and of the Shepherd of the Hills Church in La Mesa.

He will preach his first sermon on Sept. 26. The congregation and the community welcomes the Rev. Zimmermann.

Preach highway safety—then practice what you preach.

ACCIDENTS OCCUR BETWEEN 9 AND 12

SACRAMENTO— The critical hours for traffic deaths during the recent Fourth of July holiday weekend were between 8 p.m. and midnight, although non-fatal accidents most frequently during the late afternoon and early evening hours.

These facts were disclosed in a review of the traffic accidents investigated by the California Highway Patrol released today by Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden.

"Seven of the 21 fatal accidents the Patrol investigated during the holiday occurred during this time period," Crittenden declared. "They killed eight persons, seven of whom were drivers and the other a passenger, and both drivers were killed in one of the accidents."

Except for the time element, there was little similarity among these incidents, Crittenden noted.

"Two were single car mishaps in which the driver lost control of his car and ran off the roadway. Three cars were involved in one crash in which one vehicle was on the wrong side of a divided highway. Its driver was killed."

"Both drivers died in a head-on collision that occurred when one driver crossed over the center line of a two-lane roadway. An intersection collision between two moving cars on a freeway killed a passenger in the struck car, and the eighth victim was the driver of a parked car that was struck by a passing truck.

"Of the 13 drivers involved, two were classed as obviously intoxicated and two were reported to have been drinking enough to impair their driving ability to some degree. The other nine, including five who were killed, had not been drinking."

More than one-third of the non-fatal accidents investigated by the Highway Patrol occurred between 5 p.m. and 10 p.m., Crittenden said.

More than half of the accidents occurred in the counties in which at least one of the drivers resided. In fatal accidents, however, only 42 per cent of the drivers were in their home county and almost 10 per cent were non-California residents.

The most severe accident over the holiday, in which seven men were killed, was not included in this review because it occurred within the City of Sacramento.

DAVIS — Some 3,500 students have been admitted to the University of California, Davis, for the fall semester, it was recently announced.

Kathleen Casey, formerly of Alpine, has enrolled as a freshman. She plans to become a large animal veterinarian.

Tourist
Attraction
Brings Crowds

SAN DIEGO — The Nuclear Information Center at San Onofre has attracted 58,400 visitors in the first six months of operation, J.F. Sinnott, president of the San Diego Gas & Electric Company has reported.

The visitors have come from all 50 states and 27 foreign countries. Among the largest groups of foreign visitors were 27 Cambodian technical students who are attending California State College at Los Angeles under sponsorship of the U. S. Agency for International Development.

The Nuclear Information Center was opened Feb. 19, 1965, on a bluff overlooking the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station, which is being built for the San Diego Gas & Electric Company and Southern California Edison Company. The 450,000-kilowatt generating station is scheduled to start operations in 1967.

"People are becoming caloused. They aren't too shocked about accident statistics. They aren't, that is, until the tragedy of mishaps strikes home. Then it is a case of crying" "Why did this happen to us?"

Sheriff Joseph O'Connor

SAN DIEGO COUNTY JAIL IS TOURED

By EDIE VAN TIL

A few weeks ago, your editor and publisher were privileged to tour the San Diego County Jail. Their guide for the approximately two and one-half hour tour was Sheriff Joseph O'Connor.

The first impression that seemed to be given, was one of tremendous efficiency. At no time did there seem to be too many employees or too little for each employee to do. And for a taxpayer, this is a pleasing sight! The dining area was something to behold. This "restaurant" feeds more people daily than any large restaurant in town.

With the exception of bread, (360 loaves of which are used daily), all baked goods are produced in the kitchen. Included are an average of 60 18"x24" sheet cakes weekly plus pies, cookies and other needs.

There are dining rooms for various personnel and large carts are used to take meals to the prisoners, thus cutting down on the chances of prisoners escaping.

Meat used weekly, including fresh beef, canned and preserved meat, smoked meat and fish, comes to approximately 3,000 pounds.

Milk consumed is in the 500 gallon area along with 300 pounds of cheese, 450 dozen eggs and 360 pounds of oleo.

Lunching with Sheriff Joe O'Connor brought to the attention of your reporters, that the food was very good. Perhaps not gourmet food, but wholesome and far from what prison food is sometimes thought to be.

The kitchen is clean and well organized. Many trustees work there, and it was noted, that even though these are trustees, the knives are kept under lock and key and there is an officer on duty at all times.

There is a full time chaplain on duty, a rarity in a county prison. The same room that is used for church services doubles as a TV room for trustees. Physical exercise has not been neglected, and on the roof of the building, there is room for workouts and other forms of physical exercise.

"What happened in Dallas, could never happen here," said Sheriff O'Connor as he explained the way that an officer brings a prisoner into the jail. No reporters are allowed beyond the chain link gate and extra safety precautions have been taken to assure the safety of the prisoner and the officer at all times.

In the basement is the pistol range and all officers are required to maintain their efficiency with a gun. This efficiency can, and does, save lives.

Again in the business offices, another kind of efficiency was noted. Perhaps just one bit of humor might be mentioned — and we are sure that the crime lab men are in need of a laugh now and then.

Neatly labeled on a tall locker were the words "clues closet."

The tour through our County Jail with our Sheriff, Joe O'Connor was an interesting tour. It would take many issues to tell of all of the many phases of the work there. But even though the tour was one that could not possibly familiarize us with every facet of the county facilities, it made us glad that we were there — just on a tour, and not as a guest!

HAS YOUR Fictitious Firm Name BEEN LEGALLY REGISTERED?

BEEN LEGALLY REGISTERED?

The requirements of Section 2466 of the Civil Code, says "Every person and every partnership transacting business—under a fictitious firm name—must file a certificate stating the names in full and the place of residence of such person and the member or members of such partnership—such certificate must be published, once a week for four consecutive weeks."

If you have neglected this procedure, do you realize that the name of your firm is not protected and that you are not entitled to maintain suits for collection, or for other purposes, in the courts of the State of California?

Use The TOWN and COUNTRY NEWS Alpine's Legal Newspaper

Take care of this important matter NOW by having the Town and Country News publish the certificate. The cost is small, but the filing and publication is something that should not be overlooked. We'll be glad to provide all necessary forms and take care of both the publication and filing for you.
